Clifford Angry

President Nguyen Van Thieu "met more than 10 times" and did not arrive at an accord.

The Paris peace talks schedule has been left up in the air as a result of the South Vietnamese government stand.

Originally the U.S. and South Vietnamese government representatives were to have met with the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Vietnam, the National Liberation Front, on Nov. 6.

Clifford was red-faced and obviously annoyed as he defended Johnson for proceeding with his Oct. 31 announcement of a halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam and peace talks break-through even though, as it turns out, the South Vietnamese government had suddenly become reluctant.

"He had a deal with Hanoi in Paris," Clifford said. "He had worked on it for six months. . . I felt that he was committed, and he felt that he had to go ahead on his commitment."

Clifford said the switch in South Vietnamese government attitude came on the eve of Johnson's announcement that U.S. planes would stop the bombing Nov. 1. Despite a flurry of last-minute cables and diplomatic huddling, the Saigon government refused to change its stand and, in fact, Clifford said, came up with "a whole new set of concerns and objections."

Clifford said Johnson "owed it to the American people" to go ahead nevertheless with his peace drive.

"He worked through 5 1/2 months to reach an agreement that he thought could be a major step toward peace, and then in the last out of the night, suddenly, they say, 'No, we can't go along,'" Clifford said.

"I believe the president was absolutely right in not giving Saigon a veto over the plan."

The defence secretary's sharp remarks on the Washington-Saigon squabble highlighted a new conference in which he also in effect warned Hanoi that recent artillery attacks across the so-called demilitarized zone between the two Vietnams are a violation of the general understanding the U.S. had when it stopped the bombing of North Vietnam.

Israel Trying To Help Arabs

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israel has opened employment offices in occupied Jordan at Nablus, Jenin, Hebron, Ramallah, El Bireh and Tulkarm, the labor ministry announced, to help Arabs find jobs in Israel. It said they will be paid the full Israeli rates — about $4 a day for unskilled labor and $8 for the skilled.

The South Vietnamese government added Tuesday a new condition to its attendance at the Paris talks by saying it wants to know the agenda beforehand. Information Minister Ton Thien said: "We want Hanoi to put things on paper and sign them so there are no misunderstandings."

In Paris, the Hanoi delegation rejected the demand as "absurd."

Hanoi and the NLF both describe the front's team here as an independent delegation.

Winter Strikes

Lambert locks were hit by gusts as high as 45 m.p.h.

More than 20 vessels were halted for 14 hours early Tuesday following the collision of two freighters Sunday. "Very bad" visibility caused by wind-blown snow stopped navigation in the afternoon.

The Maritime provinces banded themselves for a storm system which was expected to move through the region Tuesday night, depositing three to six inches of snow in southern areas and six to nine inches in the northern sections.

Strong easterly winds, gusting to 60 were expected with the storm as temperatures hovered around the freezing mark.

Unsettled weather conditions prevailed over most of B.C. with snow flurries reported in the Cariboo and Prince George areas. Temperatures were expected to drop below freezing, but Vancouver recorded a warmish 50 degrees for a high Tuesday.

In Montreal, an Air Canada official said flights from Paris would be diverted to Toronto. It was unlikely any air traffic would leave Montreal Tuesday night.

John Diefenbaker, former Canadian prime minister who was scheduled to fly to Montreal Tuesday night to deliver a speech, was among passengers forced to cancel their plans.

More than four inches of snow had fallen in three hours in Montreal and a total of eight inches was expected, accompanied by winds of 30 m.p.h. Horse races at Blue Bonnets Raceway were cancelled Tuesday night.

Ottawa received three inches of snow and the city's weather office predicted up to eight inches by this morning.

The Kingston-Cornwall area of Ontario was hit by three inches of snow, fanned by gusts up to 40 m.p.h. Rush-hour traffic was snarled.

A woman was killed in a truck-Jeep collision on the outskirts of Kingston and a provincial police spokesman reported a rash of minor accidents.

PEACE RIVER

Light rain and snow flurries were reported in scattered areas of southern Manitoba, but snowfalls were confined to northern areas of the province. Two to four inches of snow was reported in the Peace River district of Alberta, while Saskatchewan had only traces under cloudy skies.

Back to Iron Curtain

Prague Plugs Up Exodus Avenues

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovak morale suffered one of its most serious blows since the Soviet-led invasion with the announcement Tuesday that the government is curbing free travel abroad.

Freedom to travel outside of their small homeland has been one of the most precious rights gained by the public under the reform Communist regime of party chief Alexander Dubcek.

But, like other Dubcek reforms such as press freedom, it was being rolled back in the wake of the August invasion and occupation by Soviet-led Warsaw Pact forces.

PARTY PAPER

Rude Pravo, organ of the Czechoslovak Communist party, reported briefly that the cabinet "has adopted some measures covering the temporary regulation of private journeys of Czechoslovak citizens abroad for employment or long-term visits."

"Conditions will be created so that private or business trips which cannot be controlled should not take place."

TIGHTENING UP

There was no further official information but queries to the passport department of police headquarters brought out that procedures were being tightened up both on issuance of passports and on the exit stamps required in them for leaving the country.

The red tape had been relaxed considerably in the last two years and since last summer had been reduced to automatic formalities.

EXIT STAMPS

Exit stamps will no longer be available at frontier posts, separate applications will be required for each departure from the country and applicants will have to declare their intended duration of stay abroad and their purpose, police said.

Diplomatic sources said this obviously means a return to the Iron Curtain system of close police scrutiny of each departure from the country.

MANY WAITING

Thousands of Czechoslovaks who were in the West at the time of the invasion or have since left have prolonged their stay abroad awaiting developments in their homeland.

It was learned in Vienna that there are about 10,000 Czechoslovaks in Austria at present. Informal sources claimed that the total number who left Austria and are unwilling—for the present at least—to return to their homeland is probably twice that number.

Soviet Communist party Chairman Leonid Brezhnev Tuesday said Warsaw Pact members had the right to intervene militarily in the affairs of an ally threatened by anti-socialist foreign or domestic forces. He cited the case of Czechoslovakia.

Also speaking in Warsaw, Polish Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, appealed for unity in an international Communist movement rent by differences. He urged the pursuit of the "struggle against imperialism."

Meanwhile, Moscow sources said a summit conference of East European Communist leaders soon will discuss basic political and economic relations in Warsaw or Moscow.

The first skirmish was a 20-minute machinegun battle early on the morning. The second, involving tank weapons, broke out early Tuesday afternoon, the spokesman said, and Jordanian fire destroyed an Israeli track vehicle and inflicted two Israeli casualties.

Civil War Ahead?

ASKED BY A QUEEN'S University student last Friday whether Canada is considering a reduction in her NATO commitments, Prime Minister Trudeau cryptically replied that North America is more menaced by internal disorders than by external pressure.

Enlarging on this theme he said that he feels very strongly that disorders and racial strife in U.S. cities "may seriously lead to large rebellions" and that if there are great riots and the beginnings of civil war in the United States, they might overflow to Canada and link up with underprivileged people here such as the Indians and Metis.

This frightening statement by the prime minister—who by virtue of his position is privy to all details of the present state of this nation's security—could well do with some clarification for the peace of mind of Canadian citizens if nothing else.

Is Mr. Trudeau's bombshell remark his way of informing the Canadian public and the world at large through his new system of "direct communication" with the people that Canada is now preparing to withdraw its armed forces from Europe to re-station them along the American border?

Does Mr. Trudeau believe that the Canadian-U.S. boundary line has gone unguarded long enough? Certainly this was the import of his words when he said: "These are the areas we should fear and seek to correct."

If Mr. Trudeau is sincere in his stated view that Canada is being and will continue to be threatened by civil disturbances in the United States, Canadians must now look for far more stringent border-crossing controls between the United States and Canada to be initiated by the federal government.

If, as Mr. Trudeau says, Canadians should fear the "overflow" into Canada of American civil war and the "link up" of underprivileged people then a good place to start would be to bar American draft-dodgers and protest leaders from entering Canada. Many of these who are pouring into Canada at the rate of hundreds are sincere pacifists for whom considerable sympathy may be felt, but many are simply dedicated trouble-makers and semi-professional hate-mongers and riot-starters.

This action could well be followed by a sincere effort on the part of the federal government to right the many wrongs it alone has been responsible for perpetrating against the Indian and Metis people of Canada.

Literally millions of dollars and thousands of man-hours have been expended under Liberal governments to find out what is gripping the French-Canadian and what must be done to make him happier. But so far not even a useful thought has been given to the inequities and indignities suffered by our Canadian Indians.

The cost of implementing a long overdue massive rehabilitation plan for Canadian Indians and Metis would be high, but if such action is needed to avoid being involved in the civil war Mr. Trudeau so fearlessly predicts for America, then the expenditure is vitally necessary in the interests of Canadian security if not humanity.

A Slick Proposal

NEW OIL DISCOVERIES in north and south Alaska are increasing the production potential from that state to the degree that it is fast becoming one of the major sources of petroleum products in the North American continent.

Because of their position on tidewater, the southern Alaskan fields will be served mainly by mammoth tankers to take the offshore oil to market, while the oil from the north, because of the short ice-free period available for ship movement in the Arctic Ocean, will be moved mainly by pipeline, possibly through Canadian territory.

It is almost inevitable that the movement of oil in tankers through the Strait of Juan de Fuca during the next few years will increase considerably. The announcement of Atlantic Richfield that it is preparing to build a 100,000-barrel-a-day refinery near Blaine is predicated on the assumption that much of the crude feed of the refinery will come by sea, and thus by tankers using the B.C. inland sea route.

As a result of this increased hazard to our waterways, it is timely that seven of the world's largest oil companies have devised a plan aimed at minimizing danger of water pollution through oil spillage.

The seven companies subscribing to an agreement, known as the Tanker Owners Voluntary Agreement Concerning Liability for Oil Pollution (TOVALOP), move about 30 per cent of the oil carried around the world by sea.

TOVALOP would, of course, not prevent shipping disasters, such as befell the Torrey Canyon off the southwest coast of England, but it would provide compensation for damage to coastlines, and hasten the machinery by which spillage may be cleaned up, either by the tanker responsible or by other authorities as required.

It was clearly established in the case of the Torrey Canyon that delays in tackling the problem of the grounded tanker spread the area of damage to many beaches and marine installations. Removal of delay makes TOVALOP not only a valuable instrument for the tanker companies, but is also an added insurance to shoreline dwellers that full and immediate steps will be taken to prevent damage happening.

As the city of Victoria is on the tanker route, the success of the plan is important to the area, and the fact that Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, Shell International, Gulf Oil, Mobil Oil, Texaco and British Petroleum are in the voluntary plan speaks well for its eventual acceptance.

Secret Deal by Washington?

Saigon's Refusal to Attend Paris Talks Justified by Facts as Well as Suspicion

THROUGHOUT the conflict in Vietnam the U.S. administration has maintained with unwavering consistency that the political arm of the Communist forces in South Vietnam, the so-called National Liberation Front, is an agency of Hanoi. Supported by voluminous documentary evidence, it was this assertion which rebuffed the Communist demand of a purely civil war in Vietnam and provided a substantial part of the legal and moral basis for American intervention in the conflict when military aid was requested by the Saigon government in accordance with the provisions of the protocol of the South-East Asia Treaty Organization.

In other words, the U.S. government has always regarded the war as aggression by North Vietnam against South Vietnam and maintained that the NLF was a puppet organization created by the North Vietnamese government to carry out its policy of aggression against South Vietnam.

Washington, therefore, cannot blame the government of South Vietnam for refusing to send a delegation to the Paris conference which explores the possibility of a negotiated settlement of the conflict, if the NLF is to be treated there as an independent political body purporting to represent the people of South Vietnam.

Until last week the Paris peace secret deal had been made about enlarged participation in the hoped-for beginning of serious peace negotiations. It was taken for granted that Hanoi would quickly come down to the negotiating table as part of its negotiating team, while representatives of the government of South Vietnam would come in with the Americans.

If such a deal was made behind the scenes for the sake of saving Hanoi's "face," Washington should now make it public, for North Vietnam obviously does not intend to honor any secret understanding.

Ho Chi Minh and his NLF undertakings should not be allowed to get away with creating the impression that the U.S. government has abandoned its hitherto consistent concept and interpretation of the nature of the conflict, and that official Washington is contemplating a settlement in Vietnam. For if this impression, fed by Communist spokesmen in Hanoi and Paris, were to gain credence, the whole structure of U.S. foreign policy, which is the sole basis for the small nations resisting Communist aggression, would be in jeopardy. Not only in Southeast Asia, but throughout the world.

It is inconceivable that after the staggering sacrifices of American lives and treasure in the defense of South Vietnam's right to political self-determination, President Johnson would

Despite Soviet Threat

West Germany Still Walks in Confidence

By NORMAN FRASER from Bonn

NOW more or less recovered from the state of shock brought on by the Russian invasion of Czechoslovakia, West Germany is taking stock of its new position in the world. On the surface, it appears to be a curiously lopsided position.

Faced with new military threats and with serious divisions within the European Common Market, West Germany is at the same time going through a spectacular new upsurge in the country's post-war economic miracle. The currency is probably the strongest in the world.

At a time when the status of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization is in dispute, the non-nuclear Germans can exert an economic power which nobody, not even the bullying Russians, can afford to ignore. The other anomaly is that in a country where democratic principles are taken very seriously indeed, it is the neo-Nazi extremists who have been causing most internal unrest.

Where, then, is West Germany going at this vital stage in its development? To forecast this, you have to keep some basic guidelines in mind.

For instance, there is West Germany's present dependence on France.

Some observers have put forward the suggestion that because of cohesiveness with President Charles de Gaulle over his delaying tactics on expanding the Common Market, the Germans would take a stand against him.

It has even been suggested that West Germany was thinking along the lines of helping to create a new Common Market, taking in Britain but excluding France.

This is poppycock. Under present circumstances, no German government in its right mind would entertain such an idea.

For a start, the Germans are bound by the Treaty of Rome which sets up the Common Market. And if de Gaulle stays within the treaty's rules, Bonn can't complain — effectively.

It is often completely overlooked, particularly in London, that the bond established by the Franco-German Treaty of 1963 is a real one.

Although Britain has some sincere friends among West Germany's top statesmen, there is no hiding the fact that a real crunch ever came on big issues, Bonn would give France priority over Britain.

This state of affairs could, of course, change quite a lot — particularly if the Russian military threat to West Germany were to become more acute.

Those 20 new Russian divisions now facing West Germany across the Czechoslovakian border are proof enough that Russia has no respect for weaker nations when it feels its own interests are at stake.

Using the so-called neo-Nazi "menace" in West Germany as a pretext, the Russians could feasibly bulldoze their way into West Germany just as they did in Czechoslovakia.

With only France as an ally, few Germans would sleep soundly at night with that sort of terrifying prospect looming over them.

Therefore the second basic

A Timely Warning

Canada Scientists Going to Waste?

By ROGER CHAMPOUX in La Presse, Montreal

WE have to ask whether Canada really is a country like others? During the last 10 years, we concentrated on research: We wanted scientists "by the ton" and the effort was fruitful. A number of our best "brains" attracted by the powerful American economy, travelled across the frontier to serve Uncle Sam. But the deterioration did not appear to be too disastrous and job outlets were developed at home.

Everything seemed to be rolling along gently until the other day when the president of Atomic Energy of Canada, J.L. Gray, disturbed our tranquility. His warning is important because the eminent scientist felt he had to devote 207 pages of a brief he submitted on the problem to the Senate committee examining the state of our scientific policy.

Simply, the situation is this: We have scientists, first-class researchers. But unfortunately they lack sufficient work because teaching programs are too skimpy, because our scientific organizations are too restricted. In other words, we have the manpower, the tools but not enough "sites." President Gray does not hide his fears and if he uses the word "unemployment" several times in his brief it is because of the threat of stagnation that "brains" in 1965 there were 100,000 scientists and engineers, generally said to be insufficient. Three years later it is a general alarm. Not enough positions and jobs for them, and their number has obviously grown. This conclusion, this lack of planning... in several of our initiatives on the point of making us look ridiculous.

Why devote so much interest to science if we are incapable of creating an actual environment in which scientists can work in a productive way? Mr. Gray does not joke around, and even begs government authorities to create a device to check "a possible crisis" by giving vigorous support to research.

Let us wait for the reaction of the gentlemen of the Senate committee. They have not yet reacted. The warning does not seem to worry them. That is precisely what worries us.

Black Militants Cool to Black Capitalism

By WILLIAM MILLINSHIP from Washington

BLACK capitalism is now being offered as a genuine American response to Black Power militancy and as a long-term escape route from America's racial conflicts.

The Johnson administration, in its dying days, has launched a scheme to give government backing to new black businesses with the dual aim of reviving the economic life of decaying city centres and of bringing the Negro community into "the main stream."

The scheme is one of the few signs of hope in the tense ugliness of the country's racial confrontation. The violent riots of the past two years outraged white America's belief in the sacredness of property, but they have also effectively demonstrated that black Americans, surrounded by the glittering benefits of the free enterprise system, have had no significant "piece of the action."

Few of the shops, burned and looted during the riots in Washington's black ghetto last May, have been repaired and reopened. Rows of stores, within sight of the capital, are gutted and boarded up. The white owners are understandably reluctant to put more money into this "high risk area," while there is not enough black capital available to take them over.

It took fire and violence to unearth the fact that of the 25,000 businesses in the Washington ghetto only 2,000 are owned by blacks. It has been found that the pattern is the same across the nation. While Negroes account for about 12 per cent of the population, they own scarcely more than 1 per cent of the businesses.

In the hope of establishing a fairer balance over a period of 10 to 12 years, President Johnson three months ago ordered a little-known government agency, the Small Business Administration, to set about recruiting and financing black capitalists. To run the scheme, he picked his under-secretary for commerce, Howard J. Samuels, a self-made millionaire.

Samuels, grey-haired but youthful, told me: "We are beginning to treat our inner cities as underdeveloped nations — making capital available at lower rates." The Small Business Administration (SBA) last year made about 2,000 loans to Negroes, but this was only one-sixteenth of the SBA's total lending in terms of money. In September, however, Samuels says, the agency was lending to Negroes at an annual rate of between 4,000 and 5,000 loans. His target is 20,000 loans a year.

and he reckons this rate can be reached by the end of 1970. He does not think this program need be damaged by any cuts in government spending, since his aim is to persuade private banks to put up actual cash for what would normally be considered excessively risky projects. The SBA is then prepared to underwrite up to 90 per cent of the loan. Samuels claims that the banks' response has been good, and it should improve when new legislation becomes effective to make it easier for ghetto businessmen to insure their shops and stock.

In addition to making capital easier to raise, Samuels' "Project Own" is also trying to get white businesses and associations to provide expertise and guidance to aspiring black entrepreneurs. "We'll have our white businessmen," Samuels says, "do what we can with a 'buddy system', under which white businessmen undertake to give management and technical training to black beginners."

Samuels' own belief in free enterprise is boundless. He says: "Business could clear the slums in five years with mass production techniques. But the government system isn't able to provide the decisions. Free enterprise is great, but the management of public institutions stinks. And business is beginning to wake up to this."

His scheme is based on the belief that black separatism is a necessary intermediate step towards full-scale integration. Since the city centres are black anyway then they should be made black "in a constructive way."

Private organizations, in particular the Ford Foundation, have reached similar conclusions and are taking parallel action. But, although Samuels has consulted black militants, there has been no public applause from them for his efforts.

Nevertheless, what he is doing does appear a direct response to Black Power demands. At a meeting of the Black Panther Party in New York recently, Negro militants in black uniforms used the phrase "white fascist pigs" about the police like an incantation, but their talk was not revolutionary. They did not appear even to be thinking of the possibility of overthrowing the capitalist system. What they did object to was the constant, often insidious imposition of white values and standards. What they appeared to want was acceptance of their own standards and a piece of whiteness' "action".

New Nixon Isolationism Fear of Britain, Europe

By EDWIN ROTH
From London

As Richard Milhous Nixon was elected the 37th president of the United States, cold fear spread through Western Europe that America might go isolationist. This anxiety is very strong in West Germany and even stronger in Britain — because of British worry that the Nixon administration may not be willing in future to support Britain's weak economy with as much aid as America has given Britain in recent years.

Harold Wilson and his Labor government would have liked Hubert Humphrey to win. Many informed, thinking Britons now are openly expressing fear about the effect of possible American isolationism on Western Europe's security.

Because America and Britain speak the same language, no other nation outside America was so well informed about the U.S. election campaign, or followed it with so much interest. The common language made it good, dramatic television here. Britain's television — the official British Broadcasting Corp., and commercial networks — gave it many hours of coverage and all British newspapers enormous space.

It was treated almost as if it were a British election. (Of course when you consider its widest aspects, it was just that.) On Election night, the BBC televised live by satellite the NBC-TV election results coverage.

Neither the British newspapers, nor British TV, nor even the official BBC, tried to hide a strong preference for Hubert Humphrey.

Immediately after Nixon's victory had become certain, the BBC put former British Foreign Secretary George Brown on television, and asked for his comments. Brown is still the British Labor party's deputy leader. "I am very sorry that it is not Hubert Humphrey," said Brown. "Nixon has accomplished a most incredible personal performance. I am deeply worried about the forces which brought him to power. There is a lot of disengagement in mentality about — a mentality of Stop the world, I want to get off. He may have been brought to power by these forces, and he may do what they want."

"I don't think that — like Hubert Humphrey — he really cares, and he may be far less help to us. We British, and other Europeans, must remember what happened in Czechoslovakia, and we now must pull our continent together. We will need it more with Nixon's administration than with Johnson's."

During a broadcast on BBC sound radio, George Brown said, "What I am very concerned about is the apparent movement in America towards the so-called right. By this I don't mean the crudities of George Wallace, but the replacement of liberal senators by conservatives."

"I am very concerned about the effect of this on us in Europe. I am afraid there will be a good deal of pressure for isolationism, and for American withdrawal from world affairs. This could put us into very great trouble—especially in view of Russia's behaviour in Czechoslovakia."

Reginald Maudling, deputy leader of Britain's Conservative opposition, and director of a big London merchant bank, said on BBC television, "I see Nixon as an American who will put America's interests first — as is his job. But

BACKGROUND

Trudeau's Style Ignores Row

By RON COLLISTER
From Ottawa

Prime Minister Trudeau is in hot water at home and abroad for putting riots in the streets of North America ahead of the Communist threat to NATO.

But the uproar is not going to deter him from his plan to meet Canadians face-to-face, as a matter of habit, and tell them what he is thinking, as background to policy.

So far, he has been berated in parliament and the press for an off-the-cuff remark, to students at Halifax that seemed to have endorsed Biafrans to the enclaved Germans at Stalingrad.

Then, on Friday, at Queen's University, Kingston, he faced 2,000 students and talked of the possibility of the "beginning of civil war" in the United States.

He warned that this could spill over into Canada, which has its own underprivileged people, including the Indians and Metis.

The explosive statement has received a mixed reception. The students applauded. But foreign embassies were scrambling for texts, which were non-existent because it was an off-the-cuff statement.

The statement was broadcast around the world. No one around Mr. Trudeau is concerned about the commotion. The purpose of these exchanges is to get people thinking. And there may be another, with Winnipeg students, next month.

The statement about NATO was given special significance because of the NATO ministerial meeting that is about to begin in Brussels.

Canada is reviewing its NATO policy and, in the past few months, there has been concern expressed about it by many countries, including the United Kingdom and the United States.

Any cut in Canada's NATO role is likely to cause increased bitterness in the United States because of the election of Richard Nixon, who is pushing for larger military contributions from the NATO allies.

The Canadian review has run into difficulties because of the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia, and how through Nixon's election.

In Ottawa Sunday night, Douglas Harkness, the former Tory defense minister, accused Trudeau of a "completely unrealistic assessment."

Trudeau's words, he said sounded like an attempt to return to a policy of isolationism, the policy that existed before the Second World War.

The prime minister's statement is sure to cause a flurry of questions in the Commons. But, as a source close to Trudeau observed:

"Everyone, including parliament and the press, is going to have to get used to Trudeau's style of doing things, and not get it out of perspective."

"He is engaged in a two-way dialogue of ideas, and it's going to continue."

he is intelligent enough to know that America has interests in Europe.

"There is a real danger of isolationism, partly because of the actions of some European countries, and partly because of the British Labor government's withdrawing from east of Suez. All of us still rely for our security on the American nuclear shield."

Even conservative British newspapers printed hostile stories and comments about Nixon. In the 3,000,000-circulation conservative London Daily Mail (no British newspaper is more conservative) its chief foreign correspondent Anthony Cantrill wrote from New York, "A great deal of nonsense has been talked about the 'new Nixon.' There is no new Nixon, just a man who over the years has been made wiler by defeat."

His campaign has been brilliant, judged to the moment, superbly organized — and totally soulless. To me Richard Milhous Nixon is a plastic man. His views, his policies, his personality, his very physical gestures, appear to have come out of a computer. Governor Spiro Theodore Agnew is a disaster. He has upset everyone in this campaign with his political style, which is a combination of rudeness, bad taste, and sheer ignorance."

About Mrs. Pat Nixon, the London journalist Anne Sharpley who had worked for several years in Washington during the Eisenhower administration, told millions of Britons on BBC radio, "She will get rid of the cultural chagrin, and make the White House very traditionally American. One can see endless barbecues — with great emphasis on folk singers."

These days, a personal memory appears significant. In March 1967, while listening to a speech of Prime Minister Harold Wilson in the House of Commons press gallery, I suddenly recognized a face in the opposite gallery, because at one time I had seen a lot of that face. As an amusing test, I asked Harold Wilson's political press secretary Gerald Kaufman, who sat in front of me, who that man was. Kaufman looked at him, and replied, "I'm sure I know that face, but I can't place the name. A movie star?"

Continuing my test, I asked two very experienced British political correspondents sitting beside each other, who knew the man and had written many stories about him — John Beavan and Nora Beloff. They stared tantalized, said they were sure they knew him, but couldn't recall the name, and would I please tell them.

"He is only a private citizen," I replied, making it even tougher for them. "Sic transit gloria mundi."

You will have guessed by the context that the private citizen whom the British Prime Minister's press secretary, and two internationally experienced senior political correspondents of very large, important British newspapers could not recognize in March 1967 was Richard Milhous Nixon.

Norwegians Study Second-War Survivors

Concentration Camp Effects Linger

By WILLIAM OSLER
Of the London Sunday Times

Some of the more alarming effects of the torture and gross maltreatment of Second World War prisoners held in concentration camps are only now becoming apparent after more than 20 years.

Victims who seemed to have made a full recovery soon deteriorate sharply. On investigation they may show signs of brain shrinkage and other disorders that can be traced to their wartime experiences.

These disturbing facts emerged from a study of some of the 25,000 Norwegian prisoners by the Nazis for political reasons. Although they were usually not sent to extermination camps, as were the Jews, many prisoners endured the kind of brutal torture, starvation and mental stress that have made these camps notorious.

At first after their release most prisoners seemed to recover rapidly. A year after the end of the war the majority had started to work again and were no longer getting a disability pension.

But about 10 years ago the Norwegian War Disabled Association became worried by rumors about some ex-prisoners. An appreciable number seemed to have relapsed or to have developed illnesses, although the nature of these was rather indefinite.

There were also reports of broken marriages and of difficulties at work. Many ex-prisoners seemed to have withdrawn from human contact, and felt that they were misunderstood by doctors and psychiatrists.

Because so few statistics were available the War Disabled Association asked Professor Axel Strom, the head of the department of social medicine at Oslo University, to investigate.

Together with a team of his colleagues, which included neurologists, psychologists and psychiatrists (one of whom had been in a concentration camp himself) he studied a large number of ex-prisoners who were said to have found it difficult to adjust.

Starting in 1957, all of these ex-prisoners were seen and asked about their experiences before, during and after imprisonment. They underwent a large number of psychological tests, and were also admitted to the University Hospital in Oslo for a complete medical checkup.

Altogether Professor Strom's group studied 227 people, including 13 women, and their findings are reported in Norwegian Concentration Camp Survivors (University Press, Oslo). Over half of the victims had been subjected to systematic torture — which was very severe in many cases. The length of imprisonment had averaged 2½ years.

The team soon found that many of the rumors were true. Although originally almost all the prisoners had had stable personalities, after their experiences this was no longer true. Almost a fifth of them had become divorced and a similar proportion were unhappily married. Whereas within a year of their release most of them had been able to go back to work, at the time of Professor Strom's survey a quarter of them were not employed at all.

Two-thirds had found it impossible to keep up with their jobs and had had to move to less demanding ones. Many patients were found to have some kind of illness, the commonest being those affecting the digestion, the heart, or the lungs.

One hundred and eighty of the 227 patients were classified as having intellectual deterioration — which included loss of memory, lack of concentration, fatigue, and mental disturbance.

Tests showed that this was not a neurotic reaction to their appalling experiences, but was due to a reduction in size of the brain.

The team decided that several factors could have been responsible, the principal ones being the head injuries acquired during torture, the heart-rending mental and physical stresses under which they had worked, and severe malnutrition. During imprisonment over a third of them had lost more than 40 per cent of their body weight.

Research in Japanese camps had shown that starvation causes the brain to swell, and it is thought that on return to normal conditions the brain then shrinks to less than its original size.

Nixon, Johnson Firm on Transitional Period:*No Lame-Duck Presidency Allowed

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Richard Nixon assured President Johnson Monday there will be no "lame-duck presidency" during the transition of government. He said the White House can speak with the full authority of the United States and the incoming administration in dealing with Vietnam and other foreign problems.

Nixon conferred with Johnson and his top cabinet members for one hour and 28 minutes. The president-elect said later in a statement that in times of overseas crisis there are matters facing the country which cannot wait decisions until the new Republican administration takes office Jan. 20.

CANDID VIEWS

Nixon said "If there is to be progress in foreign affairs it can come only if the Communist world realizes that Johnson is fixing policies which will be carried on by the new administration."

"For that reason, our discussion was extremely candid and forthright with regard to the policy decisions and the negotiations and discussions that will go on with regard to Vietnam and other matters."

"I gave assurance in each instance to the secretary of state and, of course, to the president, that they could speak not just for this administration but for the nation, and that meant for the next administration as well."

The president-elect said there may be significant action and progress toward peace in the weeks remaining before Johnson leaves office.

Johnson and Nixon met in the Cabinet Room with State Secretary Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, Gen. Earle Wheeler, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Richard Helms, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

AT ALL TIMES

Johnson and Nixon emerged from the White House at dusk to report on their conference. Each, in turn, made a statement. They answered no questions.

"I realize—and the president-elect realizes—that the American people expect and have a right to expect their government to efficiently function at all times," Johnson said.

HIS POINT

"Both he and I are going to do everything that we possibly can to see that the wheels of government operate at maximum efficiency, not only from now until Jan. 20 but for all time to come."

Nixon said: "The point that I think that should be made that distinguishes this transition period from others is this:

"The nation at this time in its foreign policy has several matters—Vietnam at the top of the list—which cannot await decision and cannot afford a gap of two months in which no action occurs."

LINE VIETNAM

"If, however, action is to occur, if progress is to be made on matters like Vietnam, the current possible crisis in the middle east, the relations between the United States and the Soviet Union with regard to certain outstanding matters—if progress is to be made in any of these fields, it can be made only if the parties on the other side realize that the current administration is setting forth policies that will be carried forward by the next administration."

Soviet Staff Target

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Smirnovsky was told the British government expects the size of the Soviet embassy staff in London to be limited in the future. It was not immediately known whether a figure or a deadline was set.

The number of Soviet diplomats and military attaches here had grown from 67 a year ago to 79 this month. The corresponding figure at the British embassy in Moscow is 40.

The count named Alexander Ivanovich Borbenko, the cultural first secretary at the embassy, as the "agent in charge" of RAF technician Douglas Britten, sentenced to 21 years in prison for passing secrets to the Russians.

Outspoken Separatist Quitting Legislature

MONTREAL (CP) — Separatist Francois Aulie, embroiled since 1967 in political disputes ranging from President de Gaulle's "vive le Quebec Libre" slogan to treatment of English-language minorities, announced Monday he is resigning as an independent member of the Quebec legislative assembly.

Mr. Aulie, 39-year-old Montreal lawyer, said in a statement he feels ineffective as an independent MLA under the current parliamentary system. The system did not give him the leeway to promote the aspirations of the Quebec people. He had appeared in the legislature only rarely during the current session.

FIRST ELECTED

Mr. Aulie was first elected to the legislative assembly in 1966 as Liberal member for the Montreal area riding of Dorion. He broke from the Liberal party July 28, 1967, when he opposed de Gaulle's "vive le Quebec libre" slogan shouted during the president's 1967 tour of Quebec.

He decided to sit as an independent, joining forces with another disgruntled Liberal—René Levesque—who found the separatist group Mouvement Souveraineté-association in late 1967.

TWO MEET

But the two met head on last April at an MSA meeting in Montreal when Mr. Levesque swung separatist supporters to endorse a "fair play" policy toward language and education rights for the English-speaking minority in a free Quebec.

Mr. Aulie, who subsequently resigned from the MSA, opposed the policy on the grounds that state aid to English-language schools should be only for a "period of transition" instead of being full-time.

He also disputed economic theories held by Mr. Levesque, who favors an independent Quebec with loose economic ties to Canada.

Mr. Levesque's separatist group was disbanded last month and merged with Gilles Gauthier's Ralliement national to establish a new political force—the Parti Québécois.

Meanwhile, Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand's only comment on Mr. Aulie's resignation was that a byelection would be held.

The announced resignation leaves three vacancies in the 108-seat legislative assembly. The other two, in Bagot and Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace, are to be filled in byelections Dec. 4.

The house now has 54 Union Nationale members, 45 Liberals and three independents.

Sharp

'Keep Out' Of OAS

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Canadian External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp disclosed Monday "some" Latin American nations have privately advised Canada to stay out of the Organization of American States.

Sharp, the head of a top-level Canadian delegation visiting nine Latin countries, refused to name the nations he was talking about.

"I'm not going to disclose the nature of any confidential reports I had," he commented when pressed by reporters at a news conference.

AMONG FIVE

However, observers noted they would be among five nations the Canadian delegation has visited so far: Venezuela, Colombia, Peru, Chile and Argentina.

Sharp, in his comments to newsmen, emphasized that the advice to stay out of the hemisphere organization was not a criticism of Canada.

"They're not satisfied with the OAS," the foreign minister said of the dissenting countries. "They say, 'Under these conditions don't join.'"

CLOSES TIES

Sharp said all the nations he visited so far — both those supporting and opposing Canadian entrance in the OAS — "want closer relations with Canada." The Canadian delegation, which is seeking ways to expand relations with Latin America, will leave Argentina Tuesday for Brazil.

Other countries scheduled to be visited by the delegation before returning home are Mexico, Guatemala and Costa Rica.

MUM ON CUBA

Sharp, during his press conference, made no reference to Cuba, believed to be one of the major reasons why Canada has stayed out of the OAS. Canada maintains diplomatic relations with Cuba and does not want to disrupt its ties with the Caribbean nation.

The foreign minister labeled his visit "a voyage of exploration" to find out what Canada has in common with Latin America. He said the visit will provide a basis for "future dialogue."

AID PLANNED

Sharp also disclosed plans for Canadian aid in the financing of a major hydroelectric project in Argentina.

Sharp also disclosed at the end of the news conference that Canada might provide technical — and possibly financial — aid for the regional development of the River Plate — Argentina's principal waterway.

Here's a tip for American tourists visiting overseas. If you need any information and are looking for the American embassy, just follow the mob. The embassy will be a stone's throw away.

Mechanics to car owner: "And for new customers we have a special this week... we're charging only what we estimate!"

A fellow walked into a tavern, saw no one behind the bar, so he rapped and shouted: "Where is everybody? I want a drink."

Soon, a horse walked out of the back room. The man stared at him. The horse said calmly: "Okay, you're making such a fuss. What do you want? Order up."

The man continued to stare. The horse repeated: "All right now, let's have it. What's your order?"

Finally the man said: "The cow sold the place!"

"Doctor," said the obviously disturbed young man to the psychiatrist, "my biggest problem is that I always dream of baseball."

"Don't you ever dream about girls?" asked the psychiatrist.

"What?" gasped the young man. "And miss my turn at bat?"

There are no secret ingredients in Super Shell. Just know-how.

Making gasoline is a little like making a martini.

Most people use the same ingredients, but not everybody knows how to put them together for best results.

There are no secrets among Super Shell's ingredients, and most are used in one competitive gasoline or another. But no two refineries use all of the same ingredients in the same proportions.

5 mileage ingredients

Super Shell has five ingredients for good mileage.

(1) Platformates contains petroleum molecules with extra energy built into them.

(2) If your spark plugs misfire, you waste gasoline. TCP helps to prevent this.

(3) Butane helps give fast starts. And the faster you start, the less gasoline you use before you get going.

(4) A detergent fights deposits that can build up inside the carburetor. These deposits hurt your mileage.

(5) Mixed Pentanes help your engine warm up quickly — whatever the weather. This prevents misfiring, bucking, coughing and wasted fuel.

These five ingredients make Super Shell a good mileage gasoline.

You'd expect it to come from Shell. After all, mileage is our business.

How to go farther

Everybody at Shell wants you to go farther. We think about all the things on your car that can hurt your mileage. Like soft tires. A dirty air filter. Worn spark plugs.

We look for new ways to help you get better mileage. In summer and winter. In city traffic and on the highway. Because mileage is our business.

Pull in at the Shell sign—if you'd like to go farther.

Danger Sign Frightens Investors

TORONTO (CP) — Major industrial posted strong gains to record levels although there were sizeable losses in the major industrial and real estate list.

The industrial index closed at an all-time high of 194.00, up 1.25.

The break in the speculative junior industrial section followed frequent warnings from analysts about the dangers of a soaring market.

Consolidated Building dropped 90 cents to $4.65 after trading was delayed at opening to match orders.

The real estate stock index lost 9.39 per cent.

Banks led the advance in other sections. Royal Bank was up 1/2 to 24 1/2 and Canadian Imperial Bank 1/4 to 20 1/4. The bank index gained more than 3 per cent to a record 220.17.

Difficult to Find

VANCOUVER — Although it was difficult to find a rising trend, the exchange closing averages were all higher.

Mineral signs outnumbered pluses on the industrial and mining lists as some profit-taking was evident.

Alcan, Caltex, Nadine, Pacific Asbestos and Venus were among the heavier losers on the mining list, but Bethlehem was strong as were Churchill and National Nickel.

Block, EDP, Capital Estates, Field's, GFI and Pacific Western were lower among industrialists, but Great National, Star "A" and Scott Paper advanced.

Blue Chips Soar

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal averages topped 1968 highs in active trading.

James United Steel climbed 1 1/4 to 13 1/4, Westcoast Transmission 1 1/4 to 43, Simpsons 1 1/4 to 37 1/4 and Banque Canadienne Nationale 1 1/4 to 13.

CPB added 1 1/4 to 74.

Among the most active stocks, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Alcan and Bank of Montreal edged up 1/4 each to 20 1/4, 29 1/4 and 16 respectively.

Ticker Runs Late

NEW YORK (AP) — The new stock market rally rolled ahead comfortably on heavier volume of 17,500,000 shares.

The ticker tape was four minutes late at the close, with demand strong.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The former president of Commonwealth Trust Co. says he'll be glad to co-operate with those investigating the turbulent financial affairs of the company's 35 subsidiaries.

Lawyer A. G. Duncan Crux made the comment in a telephone interview Monday from Nassau in the Bahamas. He said he plans to return to Vancouver in the near future.

The Vancouver business executive's comments were the first he has made since the British Columbia Supreme Court froze the assets of five Commonwealth firms.

The court also froze Mr.

Inquiry Told:

Put People Before Everything

FREDERICTON (CP) — The federal housing inquiry was told Tuesday the country needs more emphasis on people in its public housing policy.

"What should be provided is assistance to people rather than simply physical shelter," said the New Brunswick provincial government as the deadline-minded inquiry led by Transport Minister Paul Hellyer opened a 33-hour dash around the province.

NEW CORPORATION

Present programs under the National Housing Act are deficient because the emphasis is placed on unsightly premises and physical property rather than on the disadvantaged and people in ghettos, said the province's new provincial housing corporation in a written submission.

The province also called for fairer shareouts of federal funds, saying Ontario hogs more than 80 per cent of some NHA programs although it has only 35 per cent of the population.

GENERAL EFFORT

Housing should be considered part of a general effort to improve economic, social and cultural conditions for Canadians, the brief suggested. As such, provision of adequate sewage, transportation, water and family-help systems are as important in housing programs as building the requisite square footage of homes.

Underlining the point, Municipal Affairs Minister Fernand Nadeau told the Hellyer team New Brunswick's villages have homes of sorts, but only 26 of the province's 81 villages have water or sewage systems or both.

"The rest have absolutely nothing except a ditch or something... If you live in a disadvantaged community, you can't expect much in the way of human development and productivity," Nadeau said.

Operation 'Wisest' Logging

Resources Minister Ray Williston said Tuesday as far as the government is concerned a logging operation in Cypress Bowl, West Vancouver, is going according to plan.

He was replying to criticisms that Alpine Outdoor Recreation Resources Ltd. is ruining the area by crude logging instead of proceeding with four-year-old plans for a major recreational complex for the public.

Mr. Williston said press reports have tended to indicate that the area being logged — which is on crown land within the municipality of West Vancouver — consists of prime forests.

However, trees in the area are both decadent and diseased with the balsam woolly aphid, he added.

"The foresters from the straight standard of forest growth they are doing the wisest thing by removing this cover," the minister said.

Garment People Build Image for Paperwork

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

Canadian foresters were told at a social function in Vancouver Tuesday night that in a few years they might be attending such affairs in paper shirts, paper ties and even paper clothes.

George O'Leary, executive vice-president of Scott Paper Ltd. of New Westminster said the whole thing started as a "paper caper" promotion by his company.

A year ago Scott playfully offered $1 paper dresses as premiums to promote its regular product line.

LIKE MEASLES

"The idea spread like measles," said O'Leary. "Within months we were inundated with orders for 450,000 dresses."

Now department stores and specialty shops are clamoring for paper clothing of all kinds, according to O'Leary. Raincoats, beach jackets, shoes, underwear and even blinis are being made of paperlike material.

UP TO $100

In New York, disposable paper evening gowns are being sold at up to $100.

"The potential is exciting for the paper industry," said O'Leary. It could blossom out into a $700,000,000 a year business, and Scott is up to its ears in it.

CLOSURE INDEFINITE

Vancouver Iron and Engineering Works, which went into receivership last August with $1,072,480 due to unsecured creditors, is not likely to get into business for some time, according to F. J. Farquhar, its general manager.

Last week James United Steel Company of Calgary said it had cancelled its management contract with Vancouver Iron, and that it would not take up its option to buy the company.

OLD STANDARDS GOING

Eight-foot studs and eight-by-four plywood may be popular building material measures which will become obsolete in response to British within the next two years.

The British construction industry is starting next year to move over to the metric system, and new standards will have to be set.

Peking's UN Try Starts Hot Round

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United States said Tuesday it looks forward to the day communist China can join the world community. But, Ambassador J. R. Wiggins added, that day has not arrived.

Then, after delivering the United States' usual objections to the admission of communist China to the United Nations, the ambassador listened to Albania lash his country with all the tough terminology of the communist lexicon.

The statements were made in the second day of the annual General Assembly debate on the admission of communist China to the UN. A resolution, sponsored by Albania and 15 other countries, would replace nationalist China on all UN bodies with the Peking communist regime.

The effort, made for the 19th consecutive year, is expected to fail again. Canada will abstain from the voting but is expected to say it believes the communists and the nationalists should both be represented in the UN and the communists should take over China's permanent seat on the Security Council.

ITS POLICIES

Wiggins said it is impossible to "argue persuasively" that communist China with its policies of aggression and interference in the affairs of other countries and its announced hostility toward the UN should be admitted to the world body.

He said the Peking government seeks to resolve international differences by force and insurgency, opposes the present Paris Vietnam peace talks, seeks to weaken and overthrow sovereign states in Asia, condemns the nuclear non-proliferation treaty and has "shown nothing but hostility and contempt for the UN."

UN MAN

Halim Budo, deputy foreign minister of Albania—the UN spokesman for communists China—used such terms as imperialist, aggressive, brutal, perfidious, mendacious, abominable and absurd when referring to the U.S. and rebutting Wiggins' arguments.

China, the great defender against imperialism and colonialism, should be allowed to join the UN and help rehabilitate it and put it on the correct course.

BIG ISSUE

The assembly is expected to vote to make the China issue an "important question" requiring a two-thirds majority for passage.

Wiggins said he would support an Italian proposal that would send the whole matter to a fact-finding committee which would report to the next session of the assembly.

Budo made passing mention of the Czechoslovak invasion by Warsaw Pact forces last August, the first such mention in the assembly for some time.

'GLOBAL PLOT'

He said the Soviet "revisionists" had joined in a "global Soviet-American plot of world hegemony," to which communist China was the main obstacle.

These countries had carried out a "treacherous aggression" against Czechoslovakia. They were concentrating major armed forces along the borders of China and had carried out armed provocations against the country.

Moscow Still Willing

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Soviet Union said Tuesday it is still willing to start talks immediately with the United States on nuclear missile disarmament including anti-missile weapons.

But in a speech that opened the annual disarmament debate in the United Nations General Assembly's main political committee, Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik appeared to have little hope for opening talks before President-elect Richard Nixon takes office in Washington.

Malik proposed that the UN General Assembly toss a comprehensive disarmament package back to the 17-country committee in Geneva, which may not reconvene until next February or March. The committee, including Canada, has been the main arena for detailed disarmament negotiations.

The Geneva committee would be instructed to report back to next year's assembly on its efforts to make progress on disarmament.

Rhodesia Flag Ousts Jack

SALISBURY (AP) — Rhodesia's white minority government raised its new flag, purged of the British Union Jack, at a festive ceremony Monday.

Thousands of whites jamming broad Jameson Avenue clapped and cheered as drums rolled and the green and white vertically striped flag waved vigorously in a brisk breeze.

The scene was in sharp contrast to the sombre one at Salisbury police camp late Sunday afternoon when the Union Jack was hauled down for the last time as the flag of an African territory.

Rhodesia's whites Monday celebrated the third anniversary of their declaration of independence from Britain, and only a few blacks were seen in the big crowd at the flag raising.

The same six-man color guard that lowered the Union Jack — a white and black sergeant each from the army, air force and police — raised the new flag.

At the foot of the new flagpole was a statue of the founder of Rhodesia and the man who gave it his name, Cecil Rhodes. The officer administering the government, Clifford Dupont, said in an address the new flag symbolized Rhodesia's determination to remain free of its own sovereign independence. The Rhodesian government appointed Dupont to be Queen Elizabeth's representative.

Why should Helen Warswick care about storm warnings?

As a B.C. Telephone Company radiotelephone operator, she has good reason.

Helen Warswick seldom goes to sea. But when a storm warning goes up for British Columbia's coastal waters, she's frequently among the first to take action.

And when she does, the men at sea listen closely. Mrs. Warswick is a radiotelephone operator in the B.C. Telephone Company's Vancouver radio room and she takes a regular turn on ship-to-shore switchboards.

Storm warnings are transmitted to the ship-to-shore operators from the weather office and the operators broadcast them immediately on all marine channels to radiotelephone-equipped vessels at sea.

Big and Growing

It is just one of many services provided through B.C. Telephone's growing public service radiotelephone system, one of the largest anywhere.

Round-the-clock communication service is provided through the system to more than 9,000 radiotelephones, 3,000 of them in land vehicles, 1,000 at fixed locations in remote settlements across the province, and more than 5,000 aboard tow and fishing boats, ferries, pleasure craft and other vessels in coastal waters.

They are connected with the regular telephone system through 16 operator centres and nearly 100 special radio transmitters strategically situated to cover the entire B.C. coast and almost all of the province's vast land area.

50 Service Centres

Equipment is installed and repaired in more than 50 maintenance service centres located throughout the province.

Mrs. Warswick, a radiotelephone operator for most of her 14 years as a telephone employee, is one of more than 125 operators who staff the radio switchboards.

All have had experience in long distance telephone service and all have had special training to handle radiotelephone traffic.

This experience and training equips them not only with the skills necessary to deal with thousands of routine calls each month, including broadcast of storm warnings, regular weather reports and navigational hazards to vessels at sea.

It also enables them to react quickly to the unusual—to advise air-sea rescue forces when a marine vessel in distress calls for help, or to summon aid when something goes amiss at a remote logging or mining or fishing camp.

For many British Columbians, who go far afield to help harvest the resources from which we all benefit, radiotelephone service is their only link with the outside.

Assuring its efficiency is one more important part of the communications challenge which B.C. Telephone and its more than 7,200 employees are striving constantly to meet.

'Confused' Queen Abdicates

KAMLOOPS (CP)—A queen abdicated Monday.

She is Christina Philion, a 19-year-old University of British Columbia student who handed back the Miss Kamloops crown and said her four-month reign has been "nothing but extreme confusion."

Her two princesses, Patti Kabanoff and Linda Fellingham also turned in their crowns.

Miss Philion said it had become impossible "to maintain the standard expected of us because we lack financial assistance."

Six weeks ago Gerry Hartley, beauty pageant chairman, resigned after city council refused to help any of the girls' clothing expenses.

Courtroom Parade

'Dedicated' Role Recalled

The first case called Tuesday before Magistrate William Ostler in Central Magistrate's Court was termed by him "the type of case where Dr. D. E. McLean would have helped."

He had just completed a moving eulogy to the late psychiatrist whom he called "dedicated worker" in the court.

Defence for David H. Flatman, 21, of 2232 Cranmore, told the court the young man has a "record of mental disturbances," and requested a presentence report.

Charged with possession of a spring knife, Flatman pleaded guilty and was remanded to Nov. 19 on $500 bail.

David Charles Smith, 19, of CFB Esquimalt, pleaded guilty Tuesday to assaulting an employee of the Pizza Pienas, Town and Country Shopping Centre, Sunday night.

Court was told Smith entered the pizza bakery and asked to use the washroom. When refused, he went to the back and used it anyway, the employee told court.

Smith said the employee had threatened him with a circular pizza-cutting knife, he had been drinking and didn't like the threat, so back with a friend and punched the pizza-maker in the eye. He told court he later called and apologized.

When Magistrate Ostler learned the accused man's ship sailed this morning, he said, "You're in trouble with the navy now, but you asked for it."

He fined Smith $50.

The employee told court he ended up with a black eye, a swollen face and a chipped tooth after the fracas.

George L. Sutherland, 25, of 714 Kings, pleaded guilty to impaired driving, failure to remain at the scene of an accident, and driving while his licence was suspended.

Prosecutor Cory Stolte told court Sutherland was convicted last month on an impaired driving charge in Port Alberni and had his licence suspended.

Magistrate Ostler sentenced Sutherland to 21 days in jail on the first charge, seven days on the second, and 21 days on the third.

The recent charges stemmed from an accident Sutherland was involved in shortly after midnight Sunday, which sent two people to hospital and caused $1,750 damage to the cars.

The magistrate said he couldn't understand how the accused could have ignored the previous conviction and gone on to endanger lives.

Gordon A. Austen, of no fixed address, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance and was fined $25.

He said he came to Victoria for Armistice Day while his wife was in Europe, met "an old service buddy" whom he had some drinks with, and was eventually arrested about 2 a.m. on Government Street.

Magistrate Ostler observed, "Not a very suitable way to pay tribute to the war dead, is it?"

Edward Joseph Rychlik, 21, of 607 Francis, pleaded guilty to intoxicated driving on the Trans-Canada Highway.

His superior officer testified that Rychlik was a radar plotter on his ship and said his services would be missed if he went to jail.

Magistrate Ostler said the penalty for the charge was a mandatory jail sentence, but because the accused has a "good character" according to his officer, he sentenced Rychlik to eight days in jail. This would free him in time to make a 30-day cruise coming up for his ship.

Stephen A. Parkes, 18, of 596 Normandy, pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance and consuming liquor in public.

Court was told he and Neil Calvin Caddell, 18, of 4394 Raymond, who also pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance, had been drinking and insulted two girls Saturday evening on George Road.

Magistrate Ostler fined Parkes $15 on the disturbance charge and $50 on the consuming. He fined Caddell $25 on his disturbance charge.

Norma Holm, 37, of 565 McKenzie, who earlier pleaded guilty to theft under $50, was given a suspended sentence Tuesday and placed on a $100 bond for six months.

David D. Ferguson, 55, of Churchill Hotel, pleaded guilty to attempting to utter a false document and obtaining goods by fraud.

Prosecutor Stolte read to court a previous record including almost 11 years in jail sentences, on various charges from across Canada, and said Ferguson had once been deported to Canada from the U.S.

Ferguson said his problems all stemmed from his being an alcoholic. The magistrate sentenced him to one year on each charge, to be served concurrently.

Fined Tuesday after pleading guilty to impaired driving: Louis A. Honish, 23, of Duncan, $350 and prohibited from driving except on his job; Peter Vieweg, 23, of 535 Baker, $500 and his licence suspended; Bolton Mackenzie, of Weir's Beach Apartments, $350 and remanded to Nov. 26 for a to possession of narcotics for trafficking.

Students Almost VD-Free

A health board report on the spread of venereal disease in Greater Victoria shows that only seven cases have been reported among teenagers attending school.

However, in the age group from 15 to 20, there were 98 cases of gonorrhoea up to Oct. 28.

The age group having the highest incidence of VD cases was that between 21 and 29, in which 146 cases of gonorrhoea and eight of syphilis were reported.

In the 30-to-45 group there were 40 cases of gonorrhoea and eight of syphilis. Persons between 46 and 60 accounted for 11 gonorrhoea cases and two of syphilis.

One case of gonorrhoea was reported in the over-60 bracket and there was also another case aged below 15.

Of the total number of 334 cases treated, 229 were men and 106 were women.

Priests Protest Against Bishop

BH.BAO, Spain (Reuters) — About 40 Basque priests entered the second week of a sit-in at the diocesan seminary near here in protest against the policies of the local bishop.

They have sent letters to Pope Paul and to the papal nuncio in Madrid asking for another prelate to take over the Roman Catholic diocese on a caretaker basis.

White House Wait

Waiting for President Johnson can be something of a drag sometimes. It might have seemed that way to Anissa (Buffy) Jones 16, left and Jonnie Whitaker, 8, two actors in television series Family Affair. ## Marijuana Use Defended

CALGARY (CP) — Delegates to the annual meeting of the Alberta Young Social Credit Association Saturday approved a resolution which said that individuals should have the freedom to decide whether to take marijuana.

The vote was 24 to 13 in favor of the resolution, which calls for marijuana to be made available in the same way alcohol is.

The motion, proposed by Calgary university student Earl Scoville, based its recommendations on the "relatively harmless effect" of marijuana on users.

Before the vote, delegates heard the pros and cons of the marijuana question, with one delegate arguing that the individual "should have the freedom to make mistakes" if he wishes to.

Lee Anderson of Medicine Hat, who said he would prefer to see cigarettes and alcohol banned, added that there would be "no laws left if everything was free."

"We wouldn't want to bring our children up in such a society," he said.

Quebec's Student Rebels Ending Takeover Soon

MONTREAL (CP) — Leaders of the 1,000 students who have occupied Montreal's fine arts colleges for a month have announced they will end their takeover next Friday.

The students, in sympathy with similar occupations of junior colleges throughout the province in October, took over the Ecole des Beaux Arts Oct. 11 and since that time have maintained their own courses of instruction.

IN OCTOBER The junior colleges occupied during October have all returned to normal following a warning from Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal that students who continued to occupy their colleges could lose their year.

At its height, 11 of Quebec's 23 junior colleges were occupied.

A spokesman for the occupying students at the fine arts college said that until Nov. 15 attempts would be made to negotiate with the authorities to establish a more "democratic" structure within the college's administration.

TOTAL POINT The students are seeking "total participation" in the college administration when the occupation ends.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids...and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved... actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief even occurred in cases of long standing, and most important of all, results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months. This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

In addition to actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Trudeau Tells Provinces:

Raise Your Own Tax Funds

MONTREAL (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Sunday night the provinces must raise taxes, if they want money, and stop expecting Ottawa to turn its revenues over to them.

He told a Liberal party dinner it would be illogical for the federal government to increase its revenues merely to turn them over to the provinces.

At the federal-provincial conference in Ottawa last week, Quebec and Ontario sought the revenues from the new social development tax, an annual two-per-cent levy on personal incomes. Finance Minister Edgar Benson rejected this request.

FIRM STAND

Trudeau acknowledged that the federal government is taking a firm stand on the matter of revenues, "but this firmness is not directed against the provinces."

Federal policy was dictated by necessity. The federal government knew where it was going and could steer its own courses.

There was "a new concept" of federal-provincial fiscal relations, namely that each government must face its responsibilities.

The prime minister departed from his prepared text to make this tough reply to critics of his government's position.

Theme of his speech, the first major address he has given in Quebec since the June 25 general election, was the assertion of the French-Canadian presence in national affairs.

French-speaking Canadians are playing a more important role in the federal government than they have ever played before, he said. In the federal Liberal party, they had the instrument with which they could play this role.

The separatist path was the path of fear and despair. At this decisive moment in the history of the French community in Canada, "when we are preparing to awaken and overcome, retreat still tempts some people."

"Their deep insecurity and old fears face them to shut the doors and barricade the doors. They attempt to drag us along in their withdrawal by giving their misadventure the allure of a crusade."

American Flyers May Spend Yule Near Moon

WASHINGTON (Reuters) — Three American astronauts may spend Christmas about 280,000 miles from home, circling 70 miles above the moon, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Tuesday.

NASA said present plans call for a three-man Apollo 8 shot to be launched Dec. 2 and for a possible orbital flight around the moon.

NOW READY

A NASA spokesman said a final decision on whether to orbit the moon would be made after taking into account "technical considerations," including the moon's monthly swing around the earth, the timing of the launch and sufficient lighting for photographing sites on the moon.

Dr. Thomas Paine, acting administrator of NASA, said: "We have now concluded we are ready to fly an orbit around the moon."

NASA said the Apollo 8 crew will be commanded by United States Air Force Col. Frank Borman. With him will be U.S. Navy Capt. James Lovell and Air Force Maj. William A. Anders. All have trained for a moon mission for more than a month.

The decision to prepare for a moon orbit was reached following the successful 11-day flight of the three-man Apollo 7 last month.

SIX OR MORE

NASA said Apollo 8 would be in space a minimum of six days.

If the flight follows schedule, the astronauts will orbit the earth twice, then spend about three days coasting to the moon, which they will orbit 10 times.

During the moon orbiting—each orbit takes about two hours—the capsule will be about 70 miles above the moon's surface, NASA said. The trip back to earth will take nearly three days.

FIRST ORBIT

The Apollo 8 mission is planned so that it can be changed at any of several points, including just before moving toward the moon and just before the beginning of the first moon orbit.

Officials said that if a moon orbit cannot be achieved, the craft will embark on a high orbit of the earth, remaining in flight about 10 days.

During the lunar orbit, Borman and his crew will perform navigation and landmark sightings and photography, NASA said.

MOON LANDING

Dr. George E. Mueller, associate administrator of NASA for manned space flight, told reporters the Apollo 8 lunar orbiting flight would be a staging operation for a moon landing and return by the end of next year.

The Apollo 8 orbiting flight will advance the over-all Apollo program by testing power and control systems to achieve a lunar orbit and to break out of a lunar orbit, increasing the understanding of conditions near the moon and confirming the crew's ability to photograph landmarks on a lunar mission.

Paperwork Snarl

Apollo Rockets 'Lost'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government accountants said paperwork in the U.S. man-to-moon program became so snarled at one point that it "lost" 18 huge rocket engines, 56 pumps and other expensive gear, it was reported Tuesday.

But the general accounting office (GAO) reported it had obtained tighter logistics control in the space program, which is now preparing for the three-man Apollo 8 flight around the moon.

Although the materials in question were not physically lost, the GAO said records in the national aeronautics and space administration (NASA) gave no indication of their whereabouts. The rockets and other gear were subsequently found in surveys and inventories.

The GAO report did not specify the period of time over which the items were unaccounted for in NASA records, but various dates were listed ranging from 1965 through 1967.

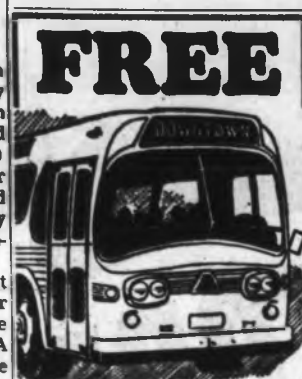

The report said the 18 rocket engines, costing a total of $468,000 were among 54 delivered to NASA's engineering section for tests.

The engines were finally found, the GAO said, by NASA's prime contractor, North American Rockwell Corp. stored in warehouses at test sites.

Also involved in the paper mixup were 56 auxiliary pumps, costing $11,200 each, and 58 accumulator reservoir manifold assemblies (ARMA), costing $39,000 apiece.

Records in NASA's manufacturing section "lost" seven ARMAS and four pumps. But in NASA's other section, the whole batch was missing from the records.

The GAO said the units were found to have been warehoused more than 18 months after the project for which they were ordered had been cancelled.

Location of the equipment, GAO said, enabled NASA to cancel orders for additional units at an estimated saving of $317,500.

Britain Ready to Help European Space Bid

BAD GODESBERG (Reuters) — Britain has offered to back a European space program designed to yield practical returns, but in return asked to be released from its present financial commitment to launcher-rocket development.

The proposals were introduced Tuesday at the opening session in this West German city of the third European space conference of ministers and space experts from 16 European countries plus Canada and Australia.

British sources said Britain wants Europe to concentrate on developing satellites for use in such fields as telecommunications, weather forecasting and scientific research, but to give up the development of European launcher rockets.

However, Britain is still willing to make its Blue Streak rocket available at cost price.

Russians Launch Another

MOSCOW (AP) — A new unmanned Soviet spaceship was on its way to the moon Monday in a mission possibly paving the way to a race with America to send a man around the moon next month.

An announcement about Zond VI, launched Sunday, said only that it would "conduct scientific explorations along their route of the flight and in near-lunar space" and test unidentified "system and units" aboard it.

The launching stirred speculation that the new craft would carry out even more complex manoeuvres than those of the unmanned Zond V, which seven weeks ago achieved history's first flight around the moon and recovery on earth.

Among more complex manoeuvres could be an attempt to make several orbits of the moon before returning to earth. Monday's announcement came as U.S. space officials considered whether to attempt a manned flight around the moon at Christmas, later deciding to go ahead.

NDP Race Heating Up

VANCOUVER (CP)—Potential candidates have started to settle in the starting blocks in the race for the provincial New Democratic Party leadership but it is not known how many will start running when the gun is fired.

Dave Barrett, a 38-year-old social worker Monday night was endorsed by fellow NDP MLA Alex Macdonald, member for Vancouver East, who said he will not enter the contest himself.

"I have asked Dave Barrett of Coquitlam to enter the leadership race," Mr. Macdonald said. "In my opinion he is the most exciting political figure in B.C. today."

WIDE SUPPORT

Mr. Barrett said in an interview later he would be making an announcement on his candidacy at a constituency meeting Thursday.

Mr. Macdonald said Mr. Barrett can expect wide support within the party and its caucus. Bob Williams, a 35-year-old town planner who also represents the dual riding of Vancouver East, said he is considering the leadership and will probably make a decision in two weeks.

Also pondering his candidacy is lawyer Tom Berger, MLA for Vancouver Burrard, who was unsuccessful in a bid to unseat former leader Robert Strachan at the party's 1966 convention.

IN APRIL

Mr. Strachan announced Friday he will resign the leadership at the party's April, 1969, convention.

Nanaimo MLA Dave Stupich, 46, said Monday it will be at least a week before he announces whether he will be a candidate.

Gordon Dowling, MLA for Burnaby-Edmonds, said he will not be a candidate but will announce Thursday whom he will support.

Two Heart Transplant Patients Die

HOUSTON, Tex. (Reuters)—A 50-year-old New York State assemblyman who received a heart transplant the day he was to run for re-election Nov. 5, died Tuesday.

Doctors said Sidney Lebowitz died of an unusual form of rejection. They said Lebowitz's body began to reject his original heart before the transplant and the rejection continued against the new heart.

Lebowitz, who represented the New York City borough of Queens in the state assembly, did not run in the election because of ill health.

He received the heart of a youth killed in a motorcycle accident.

enough to maintain blood circulation without the aid of the hospital's heart-lung machine, doctors said.

MONTREAL (CP)—Aldo Martine, 43, Montreal's ninth and Canada's 11th heart transplant patient, was reported "recovering well" by doctors at the Montreal Heart Institute early Monday following a 24-hour operation which gave him the heart of a 15-year-old local student, Michel Menard.

LYON, France (AP)—France's fourth heart transplant was performed on Noel Molsionier, 34, a bank clerk, who suffered from both a cardiac insufficiency and infection. The unidentified donor gave his kidneys for transplant in another Lyon hospital.

The heart operation was directed by Dr. Pierre Michaud. Two previous heart recipients in France died. The third, a priest, is reported doing well.

Monkey Law Banned

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Tuesday struck down the Arkansas "monkey law" which forbids teaching evolution in the public schools. The decision will also affect indirectly Mississippi, the only other state with an anti-evolution law on its books.

The Arkansas statute forbids teaching the theory "that mankind ascended or descended from a lower order of animals." Violations subject a teacher to a fine of up to $500 and dismissal.

STATE OVERRULED
The Supreme Court unanimously reversed a decision of the Arkansas Supreme Court upholding the state statute.

Speaking for the court, Justice Abe Fortas said the "law's effort was confined to an attempt to blot out a particular theory because of its supposed conflict with the biblical account, literally read."

"Plainly the law is contrary to the mandate of the first and in violation of the 14th amendment to the constitution," the opinion said.

The 1st amendment guarantees freedom of religion. The 14th makes the guarantee binding on the states.

Release Denied To Spy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Convicted atom spy Morton Sobell was refused a hearing by the United States Supreme Court Tuesday as he sought release from prison immediately.

Needing approval by four justices to be heard, Sobell received the votes of three: William O. Douglas, John M. Harlan and William J. Brennan Jr. Additionally, the court rejected Sobell's plea for release on bail. In this action he drew support only from Douglas.

Sobell was convicted in 1951 as a member of the spy ring that gave the U.S. atomic secrets to the Soviet Union. The sensational espionage trial resulted in the execution of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg as traitors.

War Declared on Fraudulent Jobless Cash Claimants

OTTAWA (CP) — The unemployment insurance commission has produced a tougher program to curtail freeloader abuses of cash unemployment benefits.

Under the change, the force to detect abuses will be raised to 260 from 140 in gradual stages, the federal agency announced Tuesday.

Number of claims for benefits which get close scrutiny will be more than tripled in the current fiscal year to 400,000 from 120,000 in the 1967-68 year.

Applicants for benefits will more often have to go for interviews at commission offices or other central points rather than be interviewed in their own homes.

The commission feels this will allow officers to conduct more interviews at less cost.

Chief commissioner Jacques

M. DesRoches told a news conference the plan to reduce fraud and other abuses arises from a $100,000 consultants' study.

DesRoches said recipients of benefits sometimes return to work without telling the commission and thus continue receiving benefits.

Others defraud the government by listing dependents they do not have to increase benefits. Others falsify reasons for being out of work to qualify for benefits.

In detected abuse cases, average overpayment by the commission is $55. The highest single overpayment recovered by the commission was $1,800.

Once the abuse is discovered, prosecutions almost always succeed. The commission had a 99-per-cent record last year in 2,500 attempts.

The defrauders can receive fines up to $500 or six-month jail terms or both. Lesser penalties include disqualification from future benefits.

TORONTO (CP) — About 2,500 fraudulent claims against the unemployment insurance commission were detected in Metropolitan Toronto last year.

Ottawa Regulation Wanted

Area Garbage Disposal

New Rules Raising Cost

Tighter regulations imposed by the Metropolitan Board of Health on garbage dumps will cost about an extra $3 per household, Saanich Ald. Leslie Passmore said Tuesday.

That is the price to be paid for forcing garbage disposal dumps to stop burning as of Jan. 1 next year and from then on to compact and cover refuse.

Ald. Passmore made the estimate when the health board was considering the new regulations that go into effect on that date.

The regulations will apply until a better disposal system is decided on by engineers, Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread told the board.

Dr. Whitbread said he is confident dump operators will co-operate.

The regulations not only ban burning but specify 28 other rules designed to eliminate unsightly or dangerous dumping and guard against health or nuisance hazards. All dumped material must be spread, compacted and covered at the end of each day and the cover must form a tight seal.

The Metropolitan Board of Health decided Tuesday to take action against what Central Saanich Mayor Gordon Lee called "a fast-buck project" on the Songhees Indian Reserve.

The board is going to try to enlist the aid of the Indian Affairs department in its row with Glen Kemp, operator of a trailer court on the Indian lands.

It wants the department to force Mr. Kemp to comply with provincial health regulations.

UNDER AGREEMENT

Mr. Kemp operates the trailer court under an agreement with the Songhees Indian Band. Since the trailers are on Indian property, which is under federal jurisdiction, the band cannot take legal action to enforce provincial regulations.

Mr. Kemp, a Victoria resident since 1956 and a former Canadian navy petty officer, said Tuesday night that he would seek health board officials today, and declined to comment until after the meeting.

Development plans Metro health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said Mr. Kemp had not submitted development plans for approval by the health board.

Esquimalt Ald. Roy Elphick said he had seen the agreement between the Indians and Mr. Kemp, and it required him to comply with such legal requirements.

The trailer court development has been hailed as a commendable effort by Indians to develop their own lands.

ESQUIMALT SEWER It was apparently the intention of Mr. Kemp, the developer, to hook trailers that he sold and situated on the reserve, into the Esquimalt sewer, according to L. E. Benham, the board's assistant director of environmental services.

These hookups were made without obtaining approval from either the health board or Esquimalt council, Mr. Benham said. When objections were raised, he said, Mr. Kemp moved some trailers off the site onto unsewered land belonging to an Indian resident of the reserve.

NOT SUITABLE Ald. Elphick said the land was not suitable for septic tanks, and the development could become "a real health problem for the Indians. We need to enforce the regulations."

Mayor Lee said that what the board faced was "a fast-buck project" and the decision to ask the Indian Affairs department to intervene was made unanimously.

Dr. Whitbread said he would get in touch with the local Indian agent and, if necessary, the minister of Indian Affairs in Ottawa.

Turbulent Seas Mirrored

Heavy seas turned lumber carrier's upper deck into lunar landscape and forced her to return Tuesday to Victoria for restowage.

Continental Shipper will remain in port about two weeks to reload. Last month ship left Crofton for Japan on maiden voyage and sea-shifted lumber cargo, forcing return here for reloading. She left Nov. 5 and again suffered cargo trouble from high seas. About one-third of deck load was lost. (Jim Ryan)

Colwood Youth Dies in Crash

A 19-year-old Belmont high school student died Tuesday afternoon after his motorcycle collided with a truck at Sooke and Metcoshin Roads.

Robert Edward Aubrey, 2426 Sooke Road, died of multiple injuries about 3:30 p.m. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Colwood RCMP identified the driver of the truck as Garry Hull, 22, of 2488 Millstream.

The dead youth was a Grade 12 academic student and a keen sportsman. He was also a member of the school band.

Police said an inquest would be held at a date to be announced. Funeral arrangements will also be announced later.

Oak Bay Property Issue

Sidewalk Payment Eyed

A bid by an Oak Bay citizen to get back money paid for sidewalk and curb construction on municipal property will be considered by council, the municipal works committee decided Tuesday.

The request came from Mrs. Hilda Carey, 1691 Hampshire, who paid $200 for a sidewalk and curb at Hampshire and Windsor six years ago to prevent cars from parking on the boulevard in front of her house.

The committee was told the sidewalk was used by waiting bus passengers.

The committee reached a deadlock over repayment of the $200.

Ald. Scott Wallace argued reimbursement but Ald. J. D. Watts expressed fears that payment would set a precedent for similar future incidents.

Ald. Wallace was not convinced by Ald. Watts' suggestion that $100 would suffice as repayment since the privately-built sidewalk had six years of use.

The committee decided to consider the matter in a later closed meeting.

In other committee business, members could not decide how to stop litter bins at Cattle Point from continuing as garbage cans for bags of household waste.

Works superintendent Ralph Fletcher said that, in the winter months, plastic garbage bags are left in and around the large bins.

Pride Seeks Independence

Home Search On for Aged

By A. H. MURPHY

City and Silver Threads service workers are scurrying around Victoria today to find accommodation for 50 old people who will soon be homeless.

Silver Threads director Mrs. Katharine Horne said Tuesday that the old people would soon have to leave a building in the 700 block Fort Street which is being converted into offices.

NOT EJECTED

"This is not a case of ejection in the harsh sense of the word," Mrs. Horne said. "The owner of the building has been very fair. He has co-operated with us and given plenty of warning. We can hardly dispute his right to do what he likes with his own property."

But the fact remains, she added, that a lot of old people will be looking for places to live.

TYPE LIMITED

Most of the old people were able to pay only between $45 and $65 a month for a room, and that necessarily limited the type of accommodation available to them, she said.

"However, I would like to stress that they are looking for self-contained rooms," Mrs. Horne added. "These people have their pride and they like to be able to say, 'This is my domain,' no matter how humble it is. They don't want to share living quarters if they can avoid it."

SERIES OF CRISES

Accommodation for old people was a never-ending problem, Mrs. Horne said, and the present crisis was just one of a long series which had been faced over the years.

"Periodically we have to ask people if they couldn't open up their home and take an old person in as an act of charity. God knows the need is great," Mrs. Horne added.

City Girl Finishes Third in Pageant

Pam Gillan, Miss Victoria and third-place finisher in Monday's Miss Canada pageant in Toronto, returned home late Tuesday to a welcome from Mayor Stephen, the Jayoses and Miss Gillan's mother.

They trooped out of the waiting room at 10:45 p.m. but couldn't find Pam and had to wait half an hour for the later flight she caught out of Vancouver.

Pam came third to Marie-France Beaulieu, 17, of Montreal, a brunette who is five feet, five inches tall, has brown eyes, measures in at 35-23-33 and wants to use her winnings to study to become a pediatrician.

Miss Beaulieu defeated 25 rivals from 10 provinces to succeed 1968 winner Carol McKinnon of Summerside, P.E.I. The other finalists were Heather MacRoberts of Edmonton, Karen Hegland of Creston and Mariene Hamilton of Halifax.

The winner's fluent reading of The Little Prince in French and English helped clinch the title.

Saanich Board Changes

Jobs Too Strenuous Two Trustees Say

Saanich school board chairman Nora Lindsay and trustee George Bone announced Tuesday they will not seek re-election in December.

Mrs. Lindsay, a trustee for four years and chairman for the past two, blamed pressure of business for her decision. She recently became a real estate agent.

Mr. Bone also said he had become too busy to do a good job as a trustee. A Saanich municipal works superintendent, he has served one two-year term.

HEAVIER WORK

Mrs. Lindsay represents rural Saanich and Mr. Bone sits for Central Saanich. Both said the job is becoming increasingly heavy.

"This is a job which deserves and requires a person who can give it a lot of time," said Mrs. Lindsay.

Trustee elections throughout the capital region will be held Dec. 7, municipal voting day. Nominations close at noon Nov. 25.

Sewers, Storm Drains, Parks

Sidney Taxes Will Rise

By NANCY BROWN

Sidney homeowners can expect tax increases next year, finance chairman Ald. Stanley Dear warned Monday night.

An engineering study of sewers and storm drains claims a need for a $600,000 expenditure, while Ald. Norma Sealey's recommendations for parks will cost an estimated two mills, he said.

GARBAGE DISPOSAL

Ald. Sealey pointed out that there will also be a sharp cost increase in garbage disposal in the new year when Greater Victoria enforces land fill in garbage dumps.

Mayor A. W. Freeman said he hopes federal and provincial grants will be available for the storm drain and sewer projects.

A $9,737 estimate for work on First Street was again submitted to council by Mayor Freeman, and was approved. Ald. Sealey was the only objector.

TABLED EARLIER

The estimate was tabled at the last meeting when Ald. Sealey pointed out a $4,360 estimate had been submitted earlier for the same work.

Ald. Dear said that estimate should never have been submitted to council because it had been drawn up by the contractor before engineering reports were available.

Ald. Sealey observed that comparing the estimates with figures in the recent sewer survey, cost of storm drains and sewers was $5,530, compared with earlier survey estimates of $3,335, though both figures were prepared by the same engineers.

Ald. Dear explained that the First Street estimates included an additional 50 feet of work.

"What is the value of this survey," asked Ald. Sealey, "if within a week of its completion a job has gone up in cost to this extent?"

"It will increase three per cent a year if we delay," commented Ald. L. T. Wadhams.

Ald. Dear said he hoped the

"If everything is going to cost another 30 per cent, the figures in here won't be reasonable, and I'm wondering about it myself," he said.

"If it is so the total cost will be $1,000,000 instead of $600,000."

Ald. Sealey questioned council's practice of not going to tender for such jobs as the First Street project.

She was told the practice will end in the new year, but currently council is getting favorable 1968 prices from the contractor.

Ashe Brilliant As U.S. Wins Against India

An impressive 4-1 victory over India in the interzone final, featured by the outstanding play of Arthur Ashe, has established the United States as the favorite in the Davis Cup final in Adelaide Dec. 26-28.

First Negro male to win a major tennis championship, Ashe scored the deciding victory on Monday when he routed Ramanathan Krishnan, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

Ashe had previously defeated Premjit Lall in the opening singles match on Saturday.

Clark Graebner, beaten by Krishnan Saturday, made the final margin 4-1 on Monday, defeating Lall, 9-7, 7-5, 6-4, in a match that lasted three hours and 20 minutes.

Stan Smith and Bob Lutz, both from Los Angeles, gave the U.S. team a 2-1 lead on Sunday by winning the doubles from Krishnan and Jaidip Mukerjee, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Australia has won the cup in 11 of the last 13 years, losing it to the U.S. in 1963 but regaining it the following year and retaining possession since.

Sir Ivor Drives to Win

Kentucky-bred, American-owned and ridden by an Englishman but representing Ireland, Sir Ivor came with a rush in the stretch on Monday to win the 17th running of the Washington (D.C.) International horse race at Laurel Race Course in Laurel, Md.

First English Derby winner to race in the U.S. since Papyrus came over and lost to Zev in 1923, Sir Ivor seemed to have trouble with the soft turf course but overtook Char Alexander and Fort Marcy about 20 yards from the wire under the handling of Lester Piggett.

Behind Char Alexander and Fort Marcy, the 1967 winner of the International, were Carmarthen of France, La Laguna of Mexico, Petrone of France, Azincourt II of Argentina and Tackleshio-O of Japan.

Sir Ivor ran the mile and a half in 2:37.2 minutes to win $100,000 for owner Winston Guest and return $5.90 for each $2 win bet. The winner carried 120 pounds, the same as Char Alexander and seven fewer than the four-year-old Fort Marcy.

Trevino Shares Purse

Lee Trevino, fulfilling a promise to himself, scored his first victory since he won the U.S. Open golf championship last summer when he finished with a 68 on Sunday to win the $25,000 first prize in the Hawaiian Open.

He finished the 72 holes with a 272, two strokes ahead of George Archer and four strokes ahead of Dale Douglass.

Trevino, who left after the tournament for Rome to represent the U.S. in the World Cup competition starting Thursday, immediately announced that he was donating $10,000 of his purse to a trust fund to send Ted Makalena, Jr., through college.

The elder Makalena, a close friend of Trevino's and an outstanding Hawaiian golfer, was killed two months ago in a swimming accident.

"I wanted to play here and win for Ted," Trevino said. "We were very close. We roomed together on the tour."

Hulme Escapes Accident

Escaping a spectacular first-lap accident, Denis Hulme of New Zealand led from start to finish on Sunday to win the $80,000 Stardust Grand Prix in Las Vegas, and with it the championship of the Canadian-American Challenge Cup racing series.

Hulme led the series by three points starting the race and, as things turned out, didn't even have to finish to win the 1968 championship.

Teammate Bruce McLaren and Mark Donohue were tied for second place but McLaren was involved in a five-car crash at the first turn which put him out of contention and Donohue couldn't get his McLaren-Chevrolet started and had to be pushed off the track.

Never pressed, Hulme set a record by averaging 113.1 miles an hour for the 210 miles, George Palmer of Arcadia, Calif., finished second in a Lola-Ford and Jerry Titus of Encino, Calif., third in a McLaren-Chevrolet.

Chuck Parsons of Pebble Beach was fourth, Sam Posey of Sharon, Conn., fifth and McLaren, last year's Can-Am champion, finished sixth. George Eaton of Toronto was seventh.

Hornets, Builders Gain Football Final

Chew Excavating Hornets and Oak Bay Farmer Construction advanced to the final of the Vancouver Island Junior Football League playoffs with victories in the semi-final Sunday.

Hornets scored their sixth shutout in nine games this season, beating Cowichan Timbermen, 30-0, at Glanford Avenue Park while Oak Bay edged James Bay Mustangs, 20-16, on a fourth-quarter blocked punt.

Which went into the Mustangs' end zone before Dave Cruise fell on it for the touchdown.

TWO TOUCHDOWNS

Mike Herald scored 12 points for Hornets on two touchdowns. Dave Granin, who shared quarterbacking duties with John Smith, kicked three converts and a 45-yard field goal. Les Hudson and Steve Parker scored one touchdown each to complete Hornets' scoring.

At Macdonald Park, Oak Bay was trailing Mustangs, 15-16, when Mike O'Connor kicked a Mustang punt from the 20-yard line and the ball ended up in the James Bay end zone where Dave Cruise fell on it for the winning points.

FUMBLES IMPORTANT

Rumbles played a big part in the game as James Bay fumbled three times, all in the first half, one of them leading to an Oak Bay touchdown.

Mike Blades and Glen White scored the winners' touchdowns and Terry Karpiuk kicked a single and Ray Gennivier a convert.

Ronnie Thom and Paul Burgoine scored a touchdown each for the Mustangs while John Smith kicked three singles and a convert.

Crises Rock French Soccer

ST. ETIENNE, France (Reuters) — The president of the powerful St. Etienne Football Club has resigned from the management committee of the French Professional Football Clubs Association, plunging national football into a fresh crisis.

"I can no longer go along with the decisions, nor with the working principles of the management committee," St. Etienne president Roger Rocher told a press conference.

"My decision is irrevocable."

Rocher, one of the most influential men in French football as the president of the most successful professional side, also hinted that he might resign from the board of the St. Etienne club.

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Cuban baseball teams will never again be invited to Mexico as long as such teams "abandon the game in the eighth inning in order to attack spectators," the Mexican Baseball Federation said Tuesday.

"It is one of the most heinous acts that has happened in baseball," said federation president Filomeno Mariquez. "Never had we seen anything like it in Mexico or in the Caribbean circuit," he said.

Two members of the Cuban team climbed into the stands Sunday and began swinging bats in an attack on Cuban critics, who had been ranting their for 5-1 loss to the United States in the post-Olympic Mexican tournament.

Banker, Publisher Dicker for Seals

Oakland's troubled Seals, playing better hockey without getting much better results and drawing fewer fans than last season, have come up with some new backers in an effort to boost their sagging National Hockey League fortunes.

They announced Monday night that a group headed by J. Anthony Boalt, a New York investment banker, and publisher Nelson Doubleday is arranging to take over an offer by Potter Palmer to purchase the club.

OTHERS IN GROUP

Betty Van Gerbig, former chairman of the Seals, is a member of the group which also includes his brother, Mickey, and Wayne Hadden, Mickey's father-in-law and board chairman of Avon Products Ltd.

Members of the group were partners with Palmer in ownership of the Seals last winter but Palmer and two partners, George Giffette and John H. O'Neil, arranged to purchase the team last August.

However, the new group and Palmer began negotiations for the new group to make the purchase before the sale was closed. No purchase price was disclosed.

PROUD OF TEAM

"We love hockey and are proud of the team and organization here in Oakland," Boalt said at a press conference announcing the deal.

The Seals have been averaging about 3,000 fans a game this season. They drew an average of 4,455 for a Sunday night game against Toronto Maple Leafs.

They played in Los Angeles last night and did little to generate new fan interest by bowing, 1-3, to the Kings.

RECORD FOR KINGS

Bill Flett, top scorer on the club last year with 26 goals, scored two goals and assisted on the other, as the Kings set a club record of four straight NHL victories, moving within two points of leading St. Louis Blues in the Western Division.

It was the fourth loss in a row for Oakland.

Flett opened the scoring at 3:36 of the second period against Seals' rookie goal-keeper, Chris Worthey, on a pass from Doug Robinson and four minutes later, deflected Larry Campbell's shot into the net.

Gerry Ehman spoiled Gerry Desjardins' shutout bid at 7:20 of the third period and Jim Peters scored on a double relay from Brent Hughes and Flett with less than three minutes remaining.

WHO NEEDS GOALS?

Scoring goals isn't all that matters in the National Hockey League.

Three players traded away by Toronto Maple Leafs since the start of last season have between them scored 25 goals this season to equal the Toronto total but the Maple Leafs are ahead of their clubs in the Eastern Division.

Frank Mahovlich has 10 goals and Peter Stelmowski five for Detroit Red Wings and Jim Pappin has scored 10 times for the Hawks but both clubs are one point behind the Leafs, who have two games in hand.

LAST-MINUTE TIE

Mahovlich scored twice and Stelmowski once Sunday as the Wings came from behind in the last minute to gain a 4-4 tie with Montreal Canadiens.

The point was just enough for the Wings to tie the Black Hawks for last place when the Hawks lost for the fourth straight time, going down, 2-4, to New York Rangers.

Stamps Top Eskimos To Gain West Final

CALGARY — Calgary Stampedeers proved far too good for Edmonton Eskimos when it counted on Sunday.

Beaten in two of three league games by the North Albertans and down by 6-0 after less than seven minutes, Stampedeers came back to dominate the Western Football Conference semi-final and reach the final with an easy 29-13 victory.

Stampedeers and Saskatchewan Roughriders start the best-of-three final in Regina on Saturday. Second game is set for Calgary next Wednesday and the third, if needed, will be in Regina the following Sunday.

NEVER IN DANGER

Displaying their most potent ground attack of the season and with Peter Liske completing 25 of 36 passes, Stampedeers were never in serious danger after a holding penalty early in the second quarter nullified a big Edmonton gain.

Eskimos got away to a flying start when a fumble by Dave Crammer, who went on to become the outstanding player in the game, and a no-yards penalty on a punt gave Pete Kempf the chance to kick 28 and 43-yard field goals within the first seven minutes.

Bill Saunders scored twice in the second period to give Buckaroos the lead after Lunde had opened the scoring. Bob Barlow, who figured in on both goals scored by Lunde, tied the score in the 12th minute of the third period.

Sonny Liston Batters Rival

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Sonny Liston, acting more the bull than a bear, battered an almost defenceless Roger Rischer for two rounds before knocking him out at 2:23 of the third round Tuesday night.

Liston charged Rischer in the final round, battering him with heavy lefts and rights, then delivering a hard left to Rischer's left side which sent him sprawling on his stomach. He made no attempt to get off the canvas.

Chuvalo Stops Italian

CRANMER SCORES

Stampedeers recovered to go 75 yards in 10 plays for a lead they never lost. Crammer went the last yard and Larry Robinson kicked the convert.

It was 7-6 at the end of the first quarter. Eskimos made their last threat as the second quarter opened when a pass to Thomas put the ball on the Calgary 10-yard line.

But a holding penalty set the Edmonton club back and Stampedeers took control from there.

FILE UP LEAD

They were ahead, 15-6, at half-time with Herm Harrison scoring on a five-yard pass from Liske and Robinson kicking the convert and adding another point on a wide field goal try.

Two field goals by Robinson and a point on a 66-yard punt by Ron Stewart had Stampedeers ahead by 22-6 when Eskimos got their only touchdown late in the game on a 63-yard pass play between Frank Cosentino and Randy Kerbow.

Kemp's convert made it 22-13 but Stampedeers came right back for a converted touchdown, scored by Gerry Shaw on a pass from Liske.

TOP GAINER

Crammer got 127 yards in 19 carries and added 65 yards on seven passes from Liske. Ted Woods, who again made the passing game work with his fine blocking, took time out from that chore to add 63 yards to a Calgary ground game which produced 180 yards.

Stampedeers passed for 339 yards and had 28 first downs to nine for the Eskimos, who rushed for 121 yards and passed for 153.

VANCOUVER — Reign of Victoria O'Keefes in the Pacific Coast Soccer League appears about to end after two seasons.

The defending champions were blanked, 1-0, by University of British Columbia before 595 Callister Park fans on Monday and are on the bottom end of a six-team struggle for the four playoff spots.

Results left O'Keefes in a three-way tie for third place but the Islanders have played three more games than Columbus and one more than North Shore. And they are also three games closer to the end of the schedule than sixth-place Westminster, one point behind.

Season-long inconsistency which finds them alternating between an inability to score and an inability to prevent scoring continued to plague the Victorians.

They were outwitted most of the way by the nippy Birds, making it rather easy for ex-teammate Barry Sadler to score his fifth shutout in nine games. O'Keefes improved after the intermission but couldn't get to Sadler as a goal scored at 13 minutes by Harvey Thom proved to be enough.

In a Sunday game, Columbus moved up by trouncing winless Croatia, 6-1.

With each having played nine of its 14 scheduled games, 10 of the 16 clubs are still in play-off contention and all four divisions have a playoff battle.

Closest battle is in the Central Division, where all four clubs are left with a chance.

Minnesota Vikings and Chicago Bears moved ahead to share the lead with victories on Sunday but at 5-4 they are still involved with Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions.

Vikings, who came up with a second straight win over the Packers, 14-10, on Sunday, have ligaments and underwent surgery Sunday night. In his absence, rookie-quarterback Virgil Carter scored two touchdowns and passed for another in a scrambling display.

Dallas Cowboys, who seemed to have a breeze in the Capitol Division, couldn't contain scrambling Fran Tarkenton when it mattered and were upset, 27-21, by New York Giants—a result which shaved the Dallas lead to one game.

Cleveland Browns, getting 127 yards in rushing from fullback Leroy Kelly and four touchdowns passes from quarterback Bill Nelsen swept by New Orleans Saints, 35-17, to open up a half game lead in the Century Division.

RALLY FOR TIE

Right behind are St. Louis Cardinals, who overcame a 21-0 deficit to gain a 28-28 tie with Pittsburgh Steelers.

In the Coastal Division, Los Angeles Rams squeezed out a 17-10 win over Atlanta Falcons to remain in a tie with the Colts, who swept past the Rams, 27-10.

Detroit Girls Included

Eight Held in Blasts

DETROIT (AP) — The arrests of 11 persons — including two girls — were announced Monday in connection with a number of recent bombings in the Detroit area, several of them aimed at police-owned cars.

The defendants were accused specifically in connection with eight bombings dating back to Aug. 30, when a blast at the 13th Police Station parking lot damaged an officer's private car.

Other bombings hit a Macomb County military draft board office in suburban Roseville, Mich., a school administration building in St. Clair Shores, a U.S. Army vehicle at a recruiting office parking lot and the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency office at the University of Michigan.

Detroit Police Commissioner Johanna Spreen said investigators are seeking eight more youths in the bombings.

Those arrested, ranging in age from 18 to 24, were charged with "conspiracy to place explosives with intent to damage property." Conviction could bring a maximum sentence of 25 years in jail.

Lieut. William McCoy of the Detroit Special Investigation Bureau said more warrants are expected to be issued as the investigation continues.

"We have no evidence that the defendants were members of any formal organized group," he said.

McCoy said a quantity of marijuana had been confiscated during some of the arrests.

He said that the investigation indicated that the bombings were of an "anti-establishment" nature. He said some of those arrested are former college students.

One of the youths, Antoine Daghuyl, 18, was arraigned Sunday and stood mute to the charge.

Armistice of 1918 Alive in Memory

Region Remembers at Five Services

By DON GAIN

One of the largest crowds in recent years turned out Monday at Victoria's Cenotaph to mark the 50th anniversary of the First World War's armistice and to pay respects to those who fought and died in three wars.

They lined Government Street, they crowded into Belleville Street. They stood on the steps and lawn of the Legislative Building and the verandah of the Empress Hotel.

At the same time, others were remembering at ceremonies in Oak Bay, Esquimalt, Langford and Sidney.

Mrs. Charlotte Green went to the Victoria ceremony. She remembered Nov. 11, 1918.

"We were living in London, England," she said. "I was scrubbing the steps when the whistles blew. I was so excited I knocked the pail over. The city went wild."

Her husband, who was in the Royal Navy, enlisted in the Canadian navy for the Second World War. He died Jan. 1, 1944, of injuries in a car accident on Signal Hill several weeks earlier. Her son is naval Lieut. George Green, stationed at Esquimalt.

"We had ridden 18 miles that morning," said a Red Chevonne veteran who wouldn't give his name. "We'd cut the Germans off. When they blew the cease-fire on the night, we downed tools and came back again."

"There are not many of us old Red Chevonne left," he said. "We went with the first contingent in 1914. I was with the Canadian Cavalry Brigade."

There were others who remembered Armistice Day 50 years ago. There were Arnold Wills of the 58th Battery, Ralph Cruickshanks of the 51st and Kenneth Drury of the 19th.

"We had anticipated the armistice for some time," one of them said. "It was almost an anti-climax. But we were very young then and looked at things differently."

George Burnham remembered that day 50 years ago. He was just 20 miles outside of Mons when he heard the whistles of the city blowing.

Another Victorian, 88-year-old Lawrence Gray, remembered. He has the special extra edition published that day by The Daily Colonist.

"It was a Monday that year, too," he said.

The paper had the word "Peace" in letters four inches deep and proclaimed "hostilities are brought to an end on Western Front."

Monday the Netherlands Carillon in the provincial museum complex marked 11 a.m. with one note, the start of two minutes of silence.

At the end of the first minute, the first volley of a 21-gun salute was fired from the heliport off Esquimalt Road by the 5th (B.C.) Field Battery, RCA. At the end of the second minute the second volley sounded followed by a note on the carillon. The salute from the heliport continued through the ceremony.

Some spectators objected, saying it was distracting, particularly during prayers.

As he has for 35 years, Clem Gill of the Royal Canadian Legion, recited the well-known lines:

"They shall grow not old as we that are left grow old; age shall not weary them, nor the years condemn. At the going down of the sun, and in the morning, we will remember them."

Mr. Gill has been at every Remembrance Day service in Victoria since 1919. He served with the 7th Battalion.

The rain, which had held off for about half the service, increased steadily and by the time Lieutenant-Governor John R. Nicholson took the salute on a dais in front of the Empress Hotel, it was a soaking, heavy downpour.

But it didn't dampen the spirits of the Naden band which, after leading the parade as it marched off, stopped at the saluting base and played "The Boys of the Old Brigade."

The crowd gradually thinned but many stayed in the rain until the end of the ceremony.

During the service a group of young people on the lawn of the Legislative Building displayed a sign: "Respect for the dead, with concern for the living."

They had just finished an all-night vigil at the Cenotaph and withdrew to the back of the lawn when the parade arrived. Nobody raised any objections. One veteran was heard to say "I think that's a very sensible slogan."

One of the oldest men on parade was Tommy Davis, 93, who served with the Pioneers and marched with the Pro Pats branch of the Legion.

The service was conducted by Rev. J. A. Roberts, rector of St. Paul's Naval and Garrison Church.

Wreaths were laid in the name of the Queen, the federal and provincial governments, bereaved mothers, the municipalities, armed services, and various organizations.

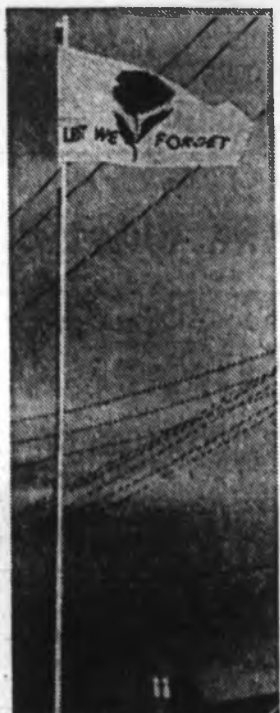

Marching in the parade were units of the navy, First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada; 5th (B.C.) Field Battery, RCA; Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's); RCA's cadettes, wrenettes and tri-service cadets; IODE, Red Cross and women's auxiliaries.

In the bitterly cold and musty weather the square filled up with Allied guards of honor, the Italians standing out in 18th century uniforms. The crowd applauded the Old Contemptibles, 10 survivors of the British force that fought at Mons in 1914.

Excitement grows. The Canadians were announced as the "liberators," and excitement swelled as drums rolled and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Band in red tunics marched to its place in the centre of the square.

A great outburst of cheering greeted the main contingent of Canadian veterans. There was no doubt it was Canada's day.

"We are all Canadians today," said a cafe waiter in seen me, it's been the same. With him on the dais were Brig. Milton F. Gregg, VC, former

People of Mons 'All Canadians'

MONS, Belgium (CP) — The people of Mons gave another emotional welcome Monday to their Canadian liberators.

As Belgians celebrated the 50th anniversary of the First World War armistice, the red and white of the Canadian flag was everywhere in the packed central square of this ancient town.

Once again the cobblestones resounded to marching Canadians — but this time they came back as grey veterans, weighed down with medals and years but still bearing themselves proudly.

Back again came Brig.-Gen. John A. Clark of Vancouver, a trim 80-year-old who is a hero in Mons, to take the salute at the march-past as he did at the 1918 victory parade. He received a tremendous welcome as he stepped to the dais.

"LIKE IT WAS"

"It's just like it was 50 years ago," he said of the Belgian reception. "Every time they've seen me, it's been the same. With him on the dais were Brig. Milton F. Gregg, VC, former Canadian liberal cabinet minister, and Brig.-Gen. J. S. Stewart, 90, of Lethbridge, Alta., who also led segments of the liberating Canadian troops of 1918.

Operation Costs Doctor $7,500

TORONTO (CP) — A Toronto surgeon, who performed a leg operation on a 63-year-old Huntsville, Ont., woman in 1963, was found negligent Tuesday and ordered to pay $7,500 in damages.

Justice D. A. Keith of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled that the opera-

Mrs. Ostrowski's leg was injured in a December, 1952, logging accident.

Zsa Zsa Strikes Out The Lip

CHICAGO (UPI) — Leo with a threat to sue Durocher, Durocher surrendered to Zsa. "He had better worry about winning a bull game next Tuesday," the lawyer, Donald Reuben, said. Durocher gained a default judgment of $1,000,000 against the actress last July on charges that she used his name as an alleged fellow admirer of the products of Aamco Transmissions Inc. in a commercial. The Cubs' field general maintained he had not authorized Miss Gabor to take liberties with his name. But his attorney, David Bradshaw told U.S. district court judge Hubert Will Tuesday, "I think it would be somewhat foolhardy to keep her as a defendant in this case."

Bradshaw said he came to the conclusion on the basis of a deposition taken from the actress and on the fact that she was completely indemnified by Aamco, a co-defendant in the case. Will accordingly vacated the judgment against Miss Gabor and dismissed her as a defendant. Durocher's suit against Aamco stands and Zsa Zsa has now added a suit of her own against the company charging travail and other hardships arising from the case. When Reuben mentioned he was considering a followup suit against Durocher, Bradshaw retorted that Miss Gabor might find herself a defendant again.

Two Followers Of St. Leonard

MONTREAL (CP) — Two Quebec school boards have followed the example set in suburban St. Leonard and decided to offer elementary school classes in French only, it was learned Tuesday. In Donnacona, a town of 7,000 people 30 miles west of Quebec, the vote was 3 to 2 in favor of the resolution. All five trustees were in favor at Ste. Cecile de Milton, a town of 1,500 situated 45 miles east of Montreal. English-speaking parents in St. Leonard have organized their own Grade 1 classes in English.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Listen to this and tell me if I am crazy. A friend I had not seen in years came to visit me. I don't smoke but I've been around a good many smokers and it never bothered me much. This woman was something you have to see to believe. She was never without a cigarette between her lips.

When she talked, the smoke curled up and down and sideways, out of her mouth and out of her nostrils. She dropped ashes on her clothes, on the rug, on the tablecloth — wherever she went there was a trail of cigarette butts. During every meal she puffed away while she ate — between bites. I never saw anything like it.

At night I couldn't sleep because I knew she was smoking in bed and I was scared to death she'd burn the house down. And then there was that incessant coughing and hacking. It made a nervous wreck of me. She'd turn blue and light another cigarette.

Beyond Endurance

I have always been a fairly tolerant person but this woman and her cigarettes got to me. When she hinted that she'd like to come back to visit next year, I told her I couldn't stand another visit because of her smoking. She said I was the craziest, most ungracious person she'd ever met. What do you think? — SMOKED OUT

Dear Ann: I don't think you are crazy or ungracious. I think you were pushed beyond the point of endurance and you let her know it. I feel sorry for your friend, however. She is addicted to tobacco as surely as a junkie is hooked on dope, and she could come to a very sad end.

Dear Ann: This is for the "comfortable but not rich" widow with the sick Cadillac. She was looking for a husband who knew how to keep up a car because she was "tired of the repair bills." Doesn't this woman know widows are A-1 targets for crooks? Apparently not, so I'd like to give her a few tips.

(1) Don't let a service station attendant do any major repair work on your car. They are not set up for it and 95 per cent of the gas pumps are not qualified to repair anything.

Find Two, Pick One

(2) If something goes wrong, take your car to three or four places for a check. Let the mechanics explain the problem and ask how much it would cost to put the car in A-1 shape. When you find two mechanics who agree, pick one and stick with him.

(3) When a gas station attendant starts to tell you your car is "in terrible condition," pull out a notebook, write down what he says, and tell him you'll take it up with your mechanic. He won't pester you again.

(4) If you get stuck in the wilderness, have the car towed to the nearest Cadillac agency. If the car is new and you've got a lemon, insist that the man you bought it from give you satisfaction or write to Detroit. — WISE UP WIDOW

Dear Wised: I don't know who will love me the most — the gas station attendants or Detroit. At any rate, your letter makes sense and I thank you for writing.

Mia Tees Off on 'Cruel' Hotel

LONDON (UPI) — A 4 a.m. breakfast rumpus Sunday morning in a smart London hotel involving actress Mia Farrow and black American model Donnyale Luna Monday brought Canadian-born film producer Jan Quarrier before a police magistrate.

After a two-minute hearing the magistrate ordered Quarrier, 27, released on $96 bail until Friday on charges of obstructing a police officer.

The incident, involving Quarrier, 24-year-old Miss Farrow, 21-year-old Miss Luna, British film producer Donald Cammell and American journalist Steve Brandt, occurred at the Cavendish Hotel, just off Piccadilly.

The group went to the hotel at 4:00 a.m. Sunday morning after some late Saturday nightclubbing and asked for breakfast.

Police were called after they ignored a management request to leave. Quarrier was taken to the police station in a police car, charged with obstructing a police officer, and then released pending Monday's court appearance.

Luna

Miss Farrow issued a statement saying "The behavior of the Hotel Cavendish management was immoral and cruel. They acted in violation of all we hold to be just and good."

"We must fight prejudice and intolerance wherever possible," the statement continued.

Miss Luna was also reported to be consulting her lawyer about filing a complaint with Britain's Race Relations Board about the incident.

The two girls were apparently trying to reinforce their claim that the reason the hotel management asked them to leave was because Miss Luna was colored.

However, Brandt told reporters before the court hearing that when they asked the management why they were being asked to leave they were told that the hotel objected to customers not wearing ties.

"A woman told us that we were not wanted there and, unless we went, she would call the police," Brandt said.

"The police came and there was fighting and girls were crying. It was all like a dream sequence," he said.

He said Miss Farrow was "absolutely furious."

"Mia said it was a humiliating and disgraceful experience and the public should know about it," Brandt said.

Brandt said that before arriving at the Cavendish "we had been to one or two places, including The Revolution (a nightclub), but were certainly not drunk or difficult."

A spokesman for the hotel said Monday: "The Cavendish Hotel does not, never has, and never will operate any kind of a color bar. The sole reason they were asked to leave is because they were disturbing other guests by their behavior."

Brandt said after the incident no objection had been raised to the party until Miss Luna, a six-foot Negro model, walked in.

Longer Life in Marriage Brought On by Children

The United Nations Demographic Yearbook contains a lot of figures and statistics about the world's population, state of health and longevity.

In all parts of the world it has discovered a curious phenomenon: married men and women live longer than single, widowed or divorced people. It can offer no logical explanation.

How does an illogical explanation grab you?

In our particular situation, both my husband and I are hanging on because neither of us wants custody of three teenagers. We signed a pact one night, after our 14-year-old daughter talked us into a convertible which she said took 15 years of my life and matched the veins on "Daddy's" nose.

"This is weird," said my husband numbly. "When I was growing up my father didn't speak to me until I was 15 years old and then he said, 'What's your name, kid?'"

"I know," I said. "Once when I talked back to my mother she took away my Jack Armstrong code ring for three days."

"What's the matter with kids today?" he mused. "Harry Sniveling, you know the fella in the office who was transferred East? He wrote last week and said, thank goodness his teenager is running Columbia now. At least he's off his back."

"I hear all kinds of stories at bridge club. Minerva Lump's daughter was lying in the middle of the kitchen kicking her feet last week and shouting hysterically, 'I am too old enough to vote.' You hear all kinds of things."

"You know what we ought to do? We ought to stick together and raise our kids the old-fashioned way."

"Do we dare?"

"Of course we dare. First of all, let's get that pay phone out of the hallway. It's humiliating. Besides, I never have any change. Next, both of them are going to get their hair cut. For all we know, they aren't even ours."

"On yes," I interrupted, "and we'll demand our car keys back and have the run of the house again..."

"And we'll say 'No' and 'Be'."

Nixon announced Miss Woods will be his personal secretary. That was no surprise. She has held the post since 1951. She is in her 40s.

Game Birds Need Careful Treatment

The B.C. Tree Fruits Limited says that, starting today, we are in for a national apple week and suggests serving apples every day, with a choice of McIntosh, Red, Red Spartan, Newtons, Red and Golden Delicious.

Just as we won't ignore apple week, here is a recipe for a quick pudding using apples.

BUTTER PECAN APPLE PUDDING

One package Butter Pecan pudding (use the one that requires cooking), 2 cups milk, 1 cup McIntosh apples, diced.

Prepare pudding according to package directions. When pudding comes to a full boil add apples. Cook until thickened. Put into serving bowl with a round of waxed paper on top to prevent a skin forming. Serve with plain or whipped cream.

At this time of year some lucky people are having their fill of game bird dinners. So much depends on the cooking of game. Well cooked it can be magnificent but poorly and nothing is more dry, tough and tasteless.

There is one set of cooks who wouldn't dream of washing the cavity of a game bird with water. They prefer wiping with a cloth wrung out of hot water.

Guarding against toughness it is well to marinate the birds for several hours before cooking. No highly seasoned marinade for game birds, just a small amount of light dry wine so as not to affect the delicate flavor.

You can put frozen birds in the marinade, thawing and tenderizing at the same time. But don't use this marinade for basting — it will have been diluted in the thawing process.

Most game birds are pretty lean and need the addition of fat in cooking. Bacon is a favorite with some and should be laid over the bird. Almost any type of fat can be used, salt pork, chicken fat, cooking oil, margarine or butter. It is well to keep in mind the fat will add flavor to the finished sauce or gravy. Basting during cooking is a must for game.

Specific recipes will give cooking times but a general rule is fast cooking for young birds and slow for the older bird.

Trussing is advisable for most birds — makes them look tidier — all except ducks, whose legs are too short to really matter.

Fried bread crumbs are often served as an accompaniment to birds. Very fine crumbs are used for dusting and medium fine for frying.

Bread sauce is another must with some people.

BREAD SAUCE
1 medium onion, 4 whole cloves, 2 cups milk, 1 cup soft bread crumbs, salt, pepper, 2 tablespoons butter.

Stud onion with cloves and put in saucepan with milk. Bring to boil then remove from heat and let stand for half an hour. Remove onion and add bread crumbs to milk, stirring over medium heat until thick. Add seasoning to taste and butter.

RED CURRANT SAUCE
1 cup port, 1 whole clove, a pinch each of nutmeg, allspice and thyme, ¼ teaspoon grated orange peel, ¼ cup game giblet stock, ¼ cup red currant jelly, 1-3 cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon butter or margarine.

Combine port, spices and orange peel. Bring to boil and cook until liquid is reduced by half. Add stock, jelly, orange juice and butter. Heat, stirring until jelly is melted. Serve warm.

To prepare game stock take giblets from one or two birds and put in medium-sized saucepan with 1½ cups water, 1 small onion, ¼ teaspoon salt and one stalk of celery. Simmer, covered, for ½ hour. Remove lid and continue to simmer for another 10 minutes. Cool.

CUMBERLAND SAUCE
One cup red currant jelly, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon powdered orange juice, 3 egg yolks, 2 tablespoons grated orange peel, 3 tablespoons dry Madeira, ¼ teaspoon salt, dash of cayenne pepper.

Melt jelly over low heat, remove and cool slightly. Blend mustard and ginger into orange juice and add to jelly. Stir in egg yolks, orange peel, wine, salt and cayenne. Bring to boil, lower heat and simmer 15 minutes. May be served either hot or cold. Makes 1-1½ cups.

Slimmer Knees Certain

By MARY SUE MILLER

A girl writes: My knees are too fat. I've always avoided reducing exercise. Well, I give up. Please tell me what to do and I will do it.

The answer: Perform each of the routines given below, morning and night. Your knees will take on acceptable contours in two months.

● Sit on edge of a firm, straight chair with feet on floor and together. Pressing knees together, raise feet four inches off floor, swing lower legs from side to side like a pendulum for 10 counts — very briskly. Relax and repeat five times.

● Sitting on chair with feet raised as above, place a firm ball between knees and repeatedly squeeze it — hard — for 25 slow counts. (A tennis ball or child's rubber ball works fine.)

While awaiting improvement, wear dark shades in stockings and avoid bulky weights.

DAIRY FOODS GO WITH GOOD LIVING

IF NOVEL PARTIES ARE YOUR CLAIM TO FAME — here's a showy dessert fondue. Melt together in the top of a double boiler 1 (12-ounce) package semi-sweet chocolate pieces and 1/2 pint whipping cream. Stir until smooth and flavor with brandy or rum extract. ## School Bands Start

Concert Plays Surprise Note

By BERT BINNY

It is the usual thing to start a parade with something lively and effective.

The annual parade of afternoon school band concerts at the McPherson Playhouse started last Sunday and continues intermittently at least through June 1 of 1969. Eleven are already scheduled, with a probability of more to come.

But the parade moved off in fine style with the 40-odd piece Esquimalt high school band directed by J. E. Bryant, the jazz ensemble and a guest artist, trumpeter William Hastings.

HEROIC ROLL
Promptly at 2:30 the curtain parted and there was a heroic roll of drums. Many of the audience immediately sprang or leaped themselves to their feet only to discover that the fanfare was to introduce Mr. Bryant and not the national anthem.

Then, as they began to sit down again, the anthem did start. Intentionally or not, this manoeuvring imparted an early sense of unexpected.

The concert opened with a band arrangement of J. S. Bach's Prelude and Fugue in C minor. The fugue presented problems not always completely overcome, but the effort was worthwhile.

OPPOSITE POLE

Just about at the opposite musical pole from Bach was Donald White's Dichotomy. "Contemporary music," observed Mr. Bryant, "may be harsh, but it represents a trend."

TV FIELD

But it is exceptionally difficult — if not impossible in a performance like that of Dichotomy — to determine whether the wide assortment of squeals, grunts, growls and trills is or is not intentional, and he is rash or terribly expert who fails to give the players the benefit of the doubt.

The band was at its considerable best with Osterling's Bandology, and everyone enjoyed the excursion into the TV music field with the theme from The Virginian, and into the film music field with Un Homme et une Femme. Likewise, it was very pleasing with Music to Watch Girls By and Midnight in Moscow.

The jazz ensemble of flutist James Kennedy, drummer Harvey Wanless and bass player Len Michaux, with Mr. Bryant at the piano, was effective and well received.

And great additional stature was given to the whole program by Mr. Hastings of the Canadian Forces College of Music. Here was trumpet playing at its best, both in Richard Hayman's Trumpet Fiesta and in the delightful Londonderry Air, the latter arranged by Mr. Hastings himself.

There was an audience of some 200-300 but one remains quite unconvinced that there are not many, many more people who would take in these concerts if they only realized how entertaining they were and how deserving of support.

Club Filling School Needs

Books and school supplies are being collected by the Ss. Beaver Kiwanis Club for shipment to Grenada in the Windward Islands of the Caribbean.

Kiwanis president-elect Even Mitchell said that the project is in response to an appeal by former Victorian John McCormick, now teaching in Grenada for the Canadian University Service Overseas.

The Ss. Beaver Kiwanians are resuming an earlier collection of texts for overseas shipment. Contributions of all kinds can be made by phoning Mr. Mitchell at 384-2570.

Memorial Concert Thursday

Choirs of St. Barnabas' Anglican Church and Christ Church Cathedral will combine in a memorial concert in honor of the late Dr. Healey William of Toronto at 8 p.m. Thursday in the cathedral.

The two choirs will sing antiphonally the composer's Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, with St. Barnabas' in the west gallery and the cathedral in the stalls.

Norma Selwood, mezzo soprano, will sing two settings of French Canadian folksongs arranged by Dr. William.

A group of cathedral choir boys will take part in the recital, which will begin with a short film on the life of the composer. There will also be piano and organ works.

Former Spy School Worth Million

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Camp X, the school that turned students into spies, silent killers and demolition experts, could bring the government more than $1,000,000 when it is sold next year.

The 275-acre estate on the shore of Lake Ontario is worth "at least $4,000 an acre if it's zoned industrial or residential," says Lloyd Corson, president of the Oshawa and district real estate board.

The British government bought the land for $12,000 in 1941, says neighboring farmer Wib Down, 70. After using it as a spy school during the Second World War, Britain gave it to the Canadian government.

Since 1947 it has been a military communications relay station for far northern and overseas links to Ottawa, but this function will end early next year and the land will be sold, the defence department announced last month.

Squatting in the shadow of huge, red-and-white radio towers is a drafty barn, where student spies slept on the floor and their instructors posed as Gestapo agents.

The administration building, with its one long corridor suitable for practising hotel-style assassinations, is deserted.

Everywhere, red and orange signs cite the Official Secrets

Act and the penalties for confessing.

Camp X was created by "the silent Canadian," Sir William Stephenson, who headed British intelligence on this side of the Atlantic.

One of its students from many allied countries was Ian Fleming, Royal Navy intelligence creator of the fictional Agent 007, James Bond.

Only one student will stay behind when the camp is finally deserted next February. He is buried in Union Cemetery, north of the estate.

The cause of Capt. Burgess' death, the only one to occur at the camp, is buried in wartime secrecy. The number of students who passed through is also unknown.

Dental Care For Needy

The Saanich school board decided Tuesday to set up a referral service for school children urgently needing dental care. Principals will be asked to gather names of needy youngsters and the names will be passed on to the Metropolitan Board of Health.

Mrs. Rubymay Parrott, chairman of the school board's health committee, said the health board will be asked to forward the list of needy youngsters to an appropriate welfare agency.

However, trustees voiced no confidence that the children will get attention. Lack of staff among welfare agencies and refusal by dentists to perform welfare work were cited.

Traffic signals will be installed at the intersection of McKenzie and Shelbourne as soon as the necessary equipment is available, it was decided Tuesday night.

The Saanich public works committee Tuesday approved a recommendation for signals and widening of the streets to three lanes to handle left turns. Other recommendations were for a traffic recount at McKenzie-Quadra when construction is finished, a count at regular intervals at McKenzie-Blenkinsop and a study of improvements to McKenzie-Gordon Head to handle the morning rush.

Safecrackers who broke into the McGavin Postmaster Building at 2629 Prior during the weekend worked on two safes but got nothing, police said Tuesday. The invaders failed to open a large safe and could only open the first of two doors of a smaller one.

Metochin ratepayers will meet at 8 p.m. today in Metochin Community Hall to decide on a course of community action. Four of the Penn Central cars that jumped the tracks contained whisky. A number of intoxicated cats seen in the area later had lapped up some of the spilled whisky.

Damaged Toys Also Welcome

Even slightly damaged toys are welcome for the Saanich Kiwanis Club Christmas toy collection because three broken toys will often make a new one, according to Harold Wymore, one of the members involved in the program.

"So far, toys have been coming in as normal compared to last year, but this year we have 10 per cent more children on our list," said president Stanley Clark.

Order of Canada Conferred on 39

OTTAWA (CP) — Lester Pearson, former prime minister, and 38 other distinguished Canadians were invested as members of the Order of Canada Tuesday night.

In Ottawa's first blizzard of the winter season, guests of the government House ceremony slithered through muddy streets and arrived late for the ceremony at which Governor-General Michener decorated 12 of the recipients with the neck ribbons, and 39 with the breast medals of the order.

He said at a glittering banquet after the ceremony that it was appropriate the third investiture of the order should be held on the first wintry night of the season, because the insignia of the order is patterned on a snowflake.

The insignia is a six-leaved white star or snowflake on which is imprinted a red maple leaf, surmounted by a crown. Around the maple leaf are the words of the order's motto, Desiderants Meliorem Patriam—They Desired a Better Country.

Pearson was invested as a Companion of the Order of Canada, along with Donald Gordon, former president of the CNR; Louis Rasminsky, governor

Labor, Ottawa Spokesmen:

Canadians Too Smug On Human Rights

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal labor department spokesman took a swipe Tuesday at the "national smugness" of Canadians on the question of human rights.

The president of the Canadian Labor Congress matched this with the admonition that organized labor in Canada has too long been guilty of taking human rights for granted.

And so it went at the opening of a three-day CLC-sponsored conference on human rights legislation in Canada.

George Blackburn, director of the labor department's fair employment practices branch, put it this way:

"We have lived with a national smugness for so long, believing we had such an advanced enlightenment towards equality for all people that we are only beginning to recognize with a shock that perhaps we are just people after all—people capable of all the racial conceits, fears

Garden Notes

By M. V. OHSNUT

One of the major problems in planting up a small garden is to find plants which can pay the rent for the space they occupy.

In the larger layouts, you can afford to carry such brief bloomers as the peony, the lilac and the oriental poppy — iridescently beautiful for perhaps 10 days or two weeks, but nothing much to look at for the rest of the year.

But the smaller the garden, the more essential it is to look for plants which declare dividends two or even three times a year.

This thought was prompted by a graceful little tree which is in full view from the window in which I do my writing. It is Amelanchier canadensis, affectionately known as the Snowy Mesquit, and it is truly a triple-value plant.

Standing about 10 feet tall, it was sheathed in the spring with a snowy mass of white blossoms, making a lovely if short-lived display against the pinkish shade of the expanding young leaves.

This was followed around mid-summer by colorful berries in a purple-red shade, attracting many winged visitors. Then the late, late show came last month when the leaves turned a glorious light bronze shade, with here and there a patch of scarlet.

There are several triple-value plants among the viburnums. Their flat-headed trusses of blossoms are attractive, their berries color up well, and some kinds put on a brilliant display of autumn colors in the foliage.

Strangely enough, one of the best from this triple-display standpoint is the common Viburnum lentana, the Wayfaring tree, seldom planted in gardens but commonly used by nurserymen as a rootstock to carry grafts of the more exotic viburnums.

It is a tree-like shrub, 10 to 12 feet tall when fully grown, carrying four-inch clusters of white blossoms in late June. These are followed by red berries which later turn to a polished ebony shade, eagerly sought by birds, then comes the flaming autumn foliage.

Beauty of both shape and color is seen in the foliage of Rhus cotinus, the Smoke tree. Here the long-stalked leaves are pleasing in outline, almost transparent as the sun shines through them, and a rich wine red in autumn.

There is an additional dividend, though, for as the bush approaches maturity it will form its filmy inflorescences, pale pink at first, then turning to a pinky-grey as summer turns to autumn, creating the misty effect which gives this smush its nickname of Smoke tree.

Probably the most commonly grown of the three-act shrubs is the flowering currant, Ribes sanguineum. It is a fine shrub in all respects — I have even seen it used as a hedge in shaded areas — but for extra value I would be inclined to turn to its cousin, the Golden currant, Ribes aureum.

This one bears trails of golden blossoms in spring, sweetly fragrant, followed by black fruits in summer. And for the final payoff, the foliage turns to a kaleidoscope of brilliant colors in the fall.

Why Humphrey Lost

WASHINGTON — There are a lot of post mortems going on now as to why Hubert Humphrey lost the election.

I have been conducting one myself, and the conclusion I have come to is that the one person responsible for Humphrey's defeat was Mayor Richard Daley of Chicago.

To understand what happened, you have to have some background on Cook County politics. The Democratic people of Cook County are amongst the most patriotic in the country.

Some of them not only vote once, but twice and three times if they're interested in the election. Tradition has it in Cook County that even after you die, you still don't lose your right to vote.

Every election year, ballot boxes are prepared for different precincts in Cook County. Then, depending on how many votes the Democrats need in Illinois to win, the boxes are sent in. Some years very few boxes are needed. Other years the machine needs every one they can get.

This year, everything was in readiness for the presidential election. The ballot boxes were stuffed to the brim and it was just a question of getting the word from Mayor Daley when they should be released.

But something happened this presidential election year to Mayor Daley, as we shall see.

At about 11 p.m., election night, a Cook County precinct captain called in to city hall to find out when he could start releasing the ballot boxes.

"We're not releasing any this year," the man on the other end of the phone said. "Are you crazy?" the precinct captain yelled. "Humphrey could lose Illinois."

"The mayor says that he will not tolerate any skullduggery in Cook County voting."

"You got to be kidding," the precinct captain said. "I have three cemeteries still waiting to vote."

The man on the other end of the line said, "I know it's hard to understand, but something happened to the mayor at the Democratic Convention. He became the symbol of law and order to millions and millions of Americans and he doesn't want to hurt that image."

"But what about Cook County's image?" the precinct captain cried. "We've been able to deliver the vote here for 50 years. If Cook County can't control Illinois, the election will be up for grabs."

"The mayor told me to tell you that if he hears of one false ballot being cast this year, he'll send the police into your precinct and break every car window in the neighborhood."

"I can't believe it. We've worked day and night on these ballot boxes. We registered people who moved away from Chicago 20 years ago. We've had people voting who haven't been born yet. Don't tell us all our work has been for naught. What are we supposed to do with all the boxes?"

"The mayor doesn't care. He told me to tell you that if you can't win honestly in Cook County, then he doesn't want to win at all."

"Even if it means losing the presidency of the United States?"

"I asked him that and he said, 'What is a man profited, if he shall gain the election, but lose his own soul?'"

"I got to hear it from him," the precinct man said unbelievably. "You can't. He's out in Grant Park planting chrysanthemums that the yuppies tore up in August."

The next morning, as the sun came up over the Conrad Hilton Hotel, ballot boxes were being burned in every part of Cook County, and with them, going up in smoke, went Hubert Horatio Humphrey's chances of becoming the 37th president of the United States.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Mia's Star Ascends

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Mia Farrow is in London to promote her Secret Ceremony film. She is living for the next few weeks in producer John Heyman's house in Mayfair, while John—who is promoting the picture in the U.S.—is keeping Joanna Shimkus happy in Philadelphia where she is on location with her movie.

In spite of some awful reviews, the Mia Farrow-Elizabeth Taylor picture is doing landslide business. What with the huge success of Rosemary's Baby, Mia has emerged as the hottest thing in pictures for 1968.

Vanessa Redgrave will have two pictures for Oscar consideration this year—The Seagull which director Sidney Lumet is rushing for a December release, and Isadora, which Vanessa started about a year before The Seagull. Probably next on the Redgrave roster is Mary Queen of Scots for Sandy Mackendrick.

Shelley Winters did not forget the dating game while she was making all those speeches for Hubert Humphrey in New York. She was all over the place with the very elegant Lord Robin Maitland of the English Maitlands. And while we are in New York, Hedy Lamarr caused some unified gasps at The Pavilion when she took off her coat and revealed herself in black velvet pants, topped with a blouse, with a babushka on her pretty head. Her escort was Mr. Kafkas, the Columbia studio executive... Stuart Levin, who bought The Pavilion recently, was expecting a visit he told me from Jackie Onassis and her new billionaire groom.

When Peter O'Toole returned to London after his three day romp in New York for The Lion in Winter premiere, they had to pour him into his Goodbye Mr. Chips schoolmaster role. Peter is one of the few stars of today who understands the fascinating art of having fun, but no one works harder when he is working.

Now that I have seen The Lion in Winter twice I will state categorically that Peter O'Toole will win the Oscar for the best performance by an actor. And at this time I will add two supporting bests for Tim Dalton as the young Philip of France and Anthony Hopkins for Prince Richard who was later to be Richard the Lionhearted. It's nice to know in retrospect that Katharine Hepburn as Eleanor of Aquitaine, succeeded in putting her favorite son on the throne to succeed Henry.

Dirk Bogarde completed Godterdamerung for Visconti in Italy and flew to Tunis for Justice.

Michelangelo Antonioni didn't waste any time testing the new Jack Valenti system of grading pictures so that none of them can cater to the adult market. In his first American movie, Zabriskie Point, 10,000 extras in the mob scene will be photographed kissing each other at the same time. They didn't tell me whether they were all males or all females, or mixed. I was afraid to ask.

I Wish I'd Known...

SYDNEY HARRIS

What I Wish I Had Known At Eighteen:

● That the weakness in ourself we recognize as a weakness can be made either endearing or compensated for; but the weakness in ourself that we regard as a strength is what will ultimately betray and defeat us.

● That we do not grow up uniformly, but in spots and streaks; so that we may mentally mature but still emotionally underdeveloped, or have a good practical grasp but still lack spiritual depth; and we must not make the mistake of confusing our categories or grown-upness.

● That candor in order to cure is very different from candor in order to hurt, and putting someone right is quite a different thing from putting someone down.

● That the way to persuade someone is not to beckon him to come and look at things from where you stand, but to move over to where he stands and then try to walk hand in hand to where you would like both of you to stand.

● That the best (and, ultimately, the only) way to make a "good impression" is by becoming who you are, not by trying to conform to anyone else's standard of what you ought to be.

● That wanting to be liked and admired by persons whose opinions or characters you do not really respect is the most common, and pernicious, form of emotional prostitution in the world.

● That if you do not find pleasure in solitude, you will not develop enough resources within yourself to find genuine pleasure in company; and, conversely, if you do not find pleasure in company, your solitude will be barren and involuted rather than creative and expansive.

● That while it is true in the world of arithmetic that two and two make four, it is not true in the world of real things that two apples and two lamps make four of anything; and thus, we cannot add up disparities and expect to come out with a neat sum, but must accept the fact that the real world is composed of "irrational numbers."

● That, in the deepest Platonic sense of the word, you do not truly "know" something until you act upon it; and that "know thyself" is a meaningless injunction unless and until such knowledge compels you to put it into action, in immediate and practical terms.

● That the world of experience is divided, roughly, into those things which are matters of taste and those which are matters of judgment; and the rigid relativist who turns matters of judgment; and the rigid relativist who turns matters of taste into matters of judgment.

U.S. Contraception Ban Revolt

Peace Letter Sought

FREE

FRIDAY
8 A.M. TO NOON
Downtown

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A seven-member drafting committee headed by Bishop John Wright of Pittsburgh labored in secret Tuesday over the wording of a pastoral letter in which the U.S. Catholic hierarchy hopes to quell a revolt by some priests and laity against Pope Paul's ban on contraception.

Before the committee as it worked in a carefully guarded suite of the Washington Hilton Hotel were written submissions from a number of bishops, giving their views on the matter. The drafting committee's product will be called up for debate, probably Wednesday, by the National Conference of Catholic Bishops.

Two sharply conflicting viewpoints were represented in the closed-door deliberations, and the drafters had the task of finding some verbal formula that would command a sufficiently wide assent to be issued as a joint statement of the entire U.S. hierarchy.

On one hand were prelates, like Cardinal Patrick O'Boyle of Washington, who felt that the controversy has gone beyond the specific issue of birth control and has become a challenge to the whole concept of papal control and had become a challenge to the whole concept of papal authority. They would deal firmly with dissidents, warning them in effect to "obey or get out."

HARD LINE

On the other hand were bishops who feared that a hard-line reassertion of ecclesiastical authority would serve only to drive vast numbers of Catholics out of the church.

They wanted the U.S. hierarchy to follow the example already set by the bishops of Canada, France, Belgium, Germany and other western European nations.

Bishops in those countries urged Catholics to give respectful attention to the Pope's teaching but to leave the way open for individual couples to make their own decision that they can in good conscience practice contraception.

CANADIAN LETTER

Bishops in the second group emphatically noted that Pope Paul recently accepted "with satisfaction" the Canadian bishops' pastoral letter. That letter contained a forthright recognition of the rights of private conscience.

It appeared possible that the language of the Canadian letter might become a model for the American statement.

The American letter is tentatively scheduled for release after the bishops' meeting Friday. Voting may not get underway until Thursday.

BITTER DISPUTE

Also causing concern to the assembled bishops was the bitter dispute between Cardinal O'Boyle and 44 of his priests whom he has disciplined for taking public issue with his view that the Pope's views on birth control are absolutely binding on anyone who wishes to remain a Catholic in good standing.

The dissenting priests have appealed to the conference to mediate the dispute, but O'Boyle has made clear he would not welcome any such intervention.

BRIGHTON, England (UPI) — A Roman Catholic bishop Monday appointed to a new post with full clerical authority a priest who was asked to take leave from a parish three months ago when he opposed the birth control encyclical issued by Pope Paul VI.

Pope Attacks Dissent

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI Monday issued a strong new warning to Roman Catholic laymen, led more than 4,000 singing, cheering Catholics in a demonstration of support for the church to suit their own ideals, for 40 Catholic priests who had been disciplined for objecting to the Pope's ban on artificial birth control.

In Washington Sunday Sen. Eugene McCarthy, a prominent Catholic layman, led more than 4,000 singing, cheering Catholics in a demonstration of support for the church to suit their own ideals, for 40 Catholic priests who had been disciplined for objecting to the Pope's ban on artificial birth control.

Policemen Fail To Prevent Double Death

EDMONTON (CP) — A man and a woman were shot to death Tuesday in their north-central Edmonton home although police tried to intervene following a report of an intended shooting.

Cpl. Ray Neely, 38, formerly of Stratford, Ont., a member of an air force unit at Canadian Forces Base Naino, 10 miles north of here, was dead on arrival at hospital.

Shirley Neely was found dead in the dwelling.

Police said the woman was in her mid-30s.

Two children, a 14-year-old son and a 13-year-old daughter, were taken by police from a school and left in the care of an air force padre.

A neighbor telephoned the house in an attempt to keep a conversation going while police got set outside. Police roped off a one-block area and warned neighbors to leave their homes or stay inside.

After attempting with a loud-hailer to persuade the man to leave, police lobbed tear-gas grenades at the house. Later police entered the house, found the woman dead and took the man to hospital.

Accused Slayer of King Picks New Lawyer

Ray's Trial Postponed to March, on Request

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — James Earl Ray won a postponement Tuesday until March 3 of his first-degree murder trial in last spring's assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

The defendant was reported hopeful of doing better when the Republican administration takes over in Washington early next year.

The state vigorously but vainly opposed the continuance granted by criminal court Judge W. Preston Battle in favor of Ray, a 40-year-old escaped convict.

"He's been here four months or better and it appears to me he's trifling with the court," said Assistant District Attorney Robert K. Dwyer.

He referred to Ray's return to Memphis after his capture June 8 in London carrying a Canadian passport. The defendant had been the target of the greatest manhunt in American history, a manhunt that extended to Canada and many other countries.

STATE SET

"... The state of Tennessee is ready for trial," Dwyer continued. "We have something like 90 witnesses alerted nationally and in various parts of the world to come in here.

"What assurances are there that at the last moment the defendant might not come in and say, 'I don't want this gentleman here.'"

Whereupon Dwyer nodded toward Texas criminal lawyer Percy Foreman, who took over the defence only Sunday night from Arthur Hanes, 52, former mayor of Birmingham, Ala.

Hanes said he was fired because of Ray's insistence that the scheduled opening of the trial be delayed, hopeful that he would do better after the Nixon administration takes office in Washington in January.

"All of this is a subterfuge," said Hanes.

Hanes told reporters that Ray's brothers, Jerry and John Ray, had refused to co-operate with him, and declared: "They have been working against us. In addition to having to fight everybody else, we've had to fight them."

SON HELPED

The plural "we" referred to Hanes and his son, Arthur Jr., who was his father's assistant in the case.

In his written motion for a

clared:

"This application is not made for delay but that justice may be done. ... A serious disagreement with reference to his defence has arisen between him and his said lawyers, both as to strategy and to policy."

Ray is charged with shooting King on April 4 as the 39-year-old Nobel Peace Prize winner, an advocate of civil rights non-violence, stood on the balcony of the Lorraine Motel in downtown Memphis.

guilty to the charge.

Ray, meanwhile is quoted in the current Look magazine as having said he unknowingly became involved in "some sort of plot to kill King" eight months before the murder.

Author William Bradford Huie says Ray wrote from his Memphis, Tenn., jail cell: "I suppose I became involved in some sort of plot to kill King when I first took those packages into the United States from Canada. ... But nobody told me anything about any planned murder of King or of anyone else."

Trudeau on NATO

Go-Slow Ordered

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Tuesday Canada's delegation to the current conference of NATO ministers at Brussels has been instructed to go slow on making new commitments in the 15-member alliance.

Far Cry From Last Time

OTTAWA (UPI) — The House of Commons late Tuesday adopted the new federal budget and its two-per-cent social development tax by voice vote and without a recorded tally.

The result was a far cry from the budget debate of last spring which saw the Liberal minority government almost fall when it lost a vote on a key tax section.

Europe Told:

Risks Even Higher

BRUSSELS (AP) — American Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, Supreme Allied Commander Europe, took sharp issue Tuesday with those he said try to wish away the readiness and capability of Russia to use force after the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Risks to Western Europe now are markedly higher, he said in an address to the Atlantic Assembly, made up of members of the U.S. Congress and parliaments of the 14 other NATO members. (See also Page 3.)

WITHOUT REGARD

"While to me the capabilities of the Warsaw pact powers are quite clear, what is equally clear is the willingness of the Soviet Union to use those capabilities when she considers that her national interest is at stake," he said.

"She is willing to use that power without even regard to the reactions of the Communist world."

The Russians now have a larger and more usable combat force, further forward, better prepared and supported than they have had since 1945, he said, urging improvements in training, equipment and mobilization of Western forces.

New Hard Line

Any More Talking Invalid Without South

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese government source said today further peace talks between the U.S. and North Vietnam would be considered invalid by the Saigon government if it did not participate.

The source said any peace terms involving the war in South Vietnam, as contrasted with the bombing of North Vietnam, could come only in direct talks between Hanoi and Saigon.

He said President Thieu presumably would continue to boycott the Paris peace talks until some formula which Saigon could accept is worked out.

PARIS (Reuters) — The opening of enlarged peace talks, already a week late, appears des-

He told the Commons that since Canada's foreign policy is under review, the attitude of Canadian delegates at the NATO talks should be that "they should as much as possible avoid any commitment now that would prejudice that review." (See also Page 5.)

George Hees (PC—Prince Edward-Hastings) asked whether this meant that Canada would reduce her military role in Europe.

Trudeau said that decision can not be taken until the foreign policy review is completed.

The prime minister declined to table the terms of reference or the names of the persons making the review, which primarily is a study by the cabinet.

ONE ELEMENT

Trudeau was peppered with questions prompted by his remarks to students at Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., last Friday.

Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield asked whether the Commons should conclude that the government wants to divert some of its efforts in the foreign field to solving domestic problems.

Trudeau said that one of the elements of the foreign policy review is to weigh Canada's commitments abroad with its responsibilities at home.

Stanfield asked whether the choice was between "an active international role and an effective attack on problems at home." Trudeau said the con-

Mystery Witness Tells Plot Tale

From UPI AP

NEW YORK — A mystery witness told a Brooklyn grand jury Tuesday that a Yemeni immigrant and his two sons tried to get him to join in a plot to kill President-elect Richard Nixon and offered him money to participate.

He testified for an hour and 20 minutes. The witness, who has never been identified, tipped police to the alleged conspiracy Friday, resulting in the arrests Saturday of Ahmed Namer, 43, and his sons Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 18. They have been held in

$100,000 bail each on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, criminal solicitation and possession of weapons. Acting Brooklyn District Attorney Elliott Golden saw to it that newsmen and photographers were kept at a distance from the Brooklyn criminal court room where the jury was sitting so the star witness could not be identified.

Little is known about him except he knew the Namers well and made his first contact with police by phone from a Brooklyn bar near their home.

The suspects appeared briefly in court Tuesday morning before Judge John Furey, who postponed the hearing until Friday at the request of attorneys for both sides because of the grand jury investigation. The jury is expected to take no longer than a day or two to decide whether to hand up indictments.

"could never do a thing against anybody. He and his sons are responsible for seven women: myself, my three daughters and his three sisters."

Another cousin, Aly Nady Ahmed Namer, 68, said "a gun is identity for the Yemeni."

Other sources in Yemen said Namer and the unidentified man who informed police of the alleged plot were from opposing tribes that recently fought each other in Rada province.

Annoyed Clifford Flays Peace Balk by Saigon

WASHINGTON (AP) — United States Defense Secretary Clark Clifford has accused the South Vietnamese government of balking in the "ninth inning" of Vietnam peace efforts and said the United States may have to continue negotiating alone. (See also Page 6.)

He said President Johnson is discussing with the South Vietnamese government officials their insistence on speaking in Paris as the No. 1 party for the allies on the anti-Communist side, but he said the president faces a crucial decision.

STILL HOPEFUL

"I think he will continue to confer with the Saigon government until he reaches the conclusion as to whether he is going to go with them or whether he shall go without them," Clifford told reporters. "But I believe that the decision will have to be made. We are still hopeful that it will be the former."

In Paris, Pham Dang Lam, head of the South Vietnamese observers, denied his government had "gone back on its word."

"The truth is," he added, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and

Bombs Still Falling

SAIGON (UPI) — Buildings shook here early today when U.S. Stratofortresses dropped hundreds of tons of bombs on Communist targets 25 miles southeast of the capital.

U.S. sources also said other bombers hit Communist infiltration routes along the Laotian frontier for the 11th consecutive day since the bombing halted over North Vietnam.

In Hanoi, North Vietnam denied it has a "tacit agreement" with the U.S. to allow U.S. reconnaissance flights to continue over the north.

Nixon First

First major appointment by U.S. President-elect Nixon Monday gave Bryce Harlow, 52, "management of legislation and congressional affairs." Harlow was deputy aide to President Eisenhower and key Nixon campaign aide. Nixon said he will have group of aides but no No. 1 man like Ike's Sherman Adams. (AP)

Raging Storm Kills 21

NEW YORK (UPI) — The biggest and roughest storm of the season swatted the east coast and the U.S. interior as far west as Tennessee with near-hurricane destructiveness Tuesday, bringing raging winds, snow and ice that sent the death toll mounting in seven states.

Hundreds fled their homes along the Atlantic Coast ahead of flooding ocean waters driven by gale force winds.

At least 21 deaths resulted from the storm, which also snarled air and land traffic and closed bridges and schools.

In New Jersey, National Guard troops evacuated hundreds of Atlantic seaboard residents where the ocean swept inland over Monmouth County. There were no reports of casualties during the evacuation. The guard used special high axle trucks to haul those rescued out over flooded highways.

NEVER SO SCARED

"I've never been so scared in my life," said Mrs. Frank Stires, who was evacuated along with her husband. "I panicked. I've been down here during hurricanes but I've never been any more afraid than now."

And so it went in the gulf-spawned storm whose winds raged up to 80 miles per hour.

BRIDGE SWAYED

A fisherman drowned and another was missing and presumed dead off Morehead City, N.C. Traffic accidents on rain and ice-slick roads killed two persons in Pennsylvania, two in New York and one each in New Jersey, Rhode Island and Maine. Three died of heart attacks in Pennsylvania while clearing away snow and an elderly man froze to death in Greenville, S.C.

In Bloomsburg, N.Y., a family of seven burned to death trying to heat a summer bungalow during a snowy night.

SEA WALL BREAKS

The New Jersey flooding in Monmouth County followed breakthroughs in several ocean retaining walls along the coast at Island Beach and Manahawick and the retaining wall at Fort Monmouth broke up. Many roads were closed and railroad service curtailed to the Jersey coast.

For New England, already blanketed in winter white, it was the third major storm in five days. Winds of 50 and 60 miles an hour lashed the Connecticut and Massachusetts coasts and hurricane barriers were closed in some ports. Scores of small craft were grounded or sunk and many ferry services were suspended.

LAKE WARNING

Even Lakes Erie, Ontario and Huron were issued warnings were issued the western shores of Erie could expect a rise of water six feet above the normal level by this morning. Parts of Lower Manhattan were under two feet of water as a result of six-foot tides and flooded sewers.

A scene of special havoc was New York's City Island, a yacht haven, where more than 10 yachts were reported to have been smashed at their moorings and six other yachts blown aground. Scores of yachts were aground or sunk in the Throgs Neck Country Club area nearby.

Hospital Saved

MONTREAL (CP) — About 100 of the 500 patients in the top floors of the 18-story Maisonneuve Hospital were moved to lower floors Tuesday as flames battled a damaging fire of unknown origin. Despite a severe snowstorm, the flames confined the blaze to the top floor, where it started, after a two-hour effort.

Canada Hit

First Blow Struck By Winter

From CP

Winter arrived in earnest in many parts of Canada Tuesday as a major snowstorm forced Air Canada to cancel all flights at Montreal International Airport and about 12 inches of snow fell on the Hope-Princeton Highway in British Columbia.

"Nobody can get to the field," a spokesman for Air Canada said in Montreal. "The ice and snow are pretty heavy and it's very slippery."

In downtown Montreal, blinding snow clogged main arteries. Cars moved at the rate of one block in 30 minutes.

Navigating through the St. Lawrence Seaway in the Montreal area was reported "at a standstill" because of poor visibility and strong winds.

A seaway spokesman said gusts up to 55 miles per hour were recorded at the Cote St. Catherine lock while the St. Lawrence was closed.

On Island's West Coast

Durante Promises To Push for Park

By MARY TAYLOR

PORT ALBERNI—Richard Durante, Liberal MP, is confident he can take Northern Affairs Minister Jean Chretien to Tofino Nov. 23 to see the proposed site of the National Marine Park on the western side of the Island.

Mr. Durante spoke to members of the Alberni Valley Chamber of Commerce Tuesday and urged them to continue their support for the marine park, one of their current projects.

effect, speculators would buy up large parts of the proposed park property, with the idea of reselling it to the government at exaggerated prices.

FULL OF OPTIMISM

"I only hope that so much of the land has not been sold that it will make the original capital cost prohibitive."

"However, I am very optimistic. I went to Ottawa full of optimism. They do try to knock this out of you. But I am still optimistic and I urge you to continue your efforts."

Mr. Durante warned the chamber that it might be wise to hold off on pressuring the Port Renfrew Road, which the chamber has been urging in connection with the park project.

ROAD MUST COME

Asking for too much might result in getting less, Mr. Durante warned.

"In all sincerity, let us get the park, and then the road must come," he asserted.

Chamber member William Beckingham asked whether the grants available for Trans-Canada Highway construction would be available for the Port Renfrew to Bamfield Road, since Port Renfrew is almost due west of Victoria, and the grants were to be for east-west road construction.

RE-DESIGNATION

Routes of the Trans-Canada Highway are designated by the provincial premiers of the respective provinces, Mr. Durante said.

Victoria's Beacon Hill Park is designated as Mile 0 of the Trans-Canada Highway. Some re-designation by the provincial government, he implied, would be necessary to get grants for alternate roads.

"Nevertheless, I am still hopeful that we will be able to get the link north to Port Hardy," Mr. Durante said.

His optimism was sustained by the fact that the road from Victoria to Nanaimo is now considered part of the Trans-Canada Highway, he said.

BACKBENCH VIEW

Mr. Durante entertained the Chamber of Commerce members briefly before the serious discussion on the marine park with an hilarious five-minute backbencher's view of the opening of parliament.

"I've heard of backbenchers, but this is ridiculous," was how the new Member of Parliament described his reaction to his seat in the House. "I'm close to the Speaker's Hotel than I am to the Speaker," adding "They call him the Speaker because he's not allowed to say anything."

Mr. Beckingham thanked Mr. Durante for this visit and expressed his delight that to date at least, Mr. Durante has not lost his sense of humor.

GOOD FOR AREA

"I am also delighted to see the co-operation with our M.L.A. (Dr. McDiarmid)," Mr. Beckingham said. "This is very good for the entire area."

During the discussion period that followed his remarks, Mr. Durante briefly commented on the provincial premiers' conference.

"The two per cent social development tax was created so the provinces couldn't share in it," he said. "But the (B.C.) provincial government receives $18,000,000 annually toward medicare. Money that the premier is not using for that purpose. I believe he (Mr. Bennett) owes the public of B.C. some explanation."

He was still scared and actually I found him later by chance, about 25 feet from where I shot him.

"If he had had enough time

Cross Calls

Nanaimo residents and returned servicemen and women braved chill winds and rain Monday outside Mount Benson Legion branch where newly-erected cross figured prominently in Remembrance Day ceremony. Mayor Frank Ney attended ceremony to mark 50th anniversary of Armistice Day.—(Agnes Flett)

'Potential Killer' Captured After Breaking Into Home

NANAIMO — A 14-year-old boy described in juvenile court as a potential killer was recaptured Sunday after his second escape from Brannan Lake School.

RCMP said Monday the boy and a 15-year-old companion with whom he fled from the institution Thursday night were rediscovered in a Qualicum Beach home when the residents returned from a trip.

The pair had sought refuge after the older boy became ill. When the 14-year-old was recaptured after his first escape in July, Vancouver psychiatrist Dr. Keith Atkins told a hearing he was suffering from brain damage that caused a form of epilepsy which threw the boy into fits of violent anger.

The doctor recommended at that time that the boy be sent to the provincial mental hospital at Essondale for treatment.

The judge recommended psychiatric treatment at Brannan Lake.

Construction Idle

Surplus of Carpenters On Manpower Records

DUNCAN — Construction is slow and there is a surplus of carpenters and laborers, said R. S. Robinson, manager of the Canada Manpower Centre at Duncan.

There is also a surplus of skilled and semi-skilled sawmill workers. October ended with a total of 961 unemployed persons registered at the Duncan office.

INCREASING

The manager said this is an increase of 63 over the previous month, because of the lack of construction projects. The ranks of the unemployed are also increased by people from the Prairies who hope to get steady jobs.

He said tree planting is in full swing and the logging camps are working to capacity, but there are cutbacks in the pulp and paper mills.

Courtenay

Vandals Smash Windows

COURTENAY — Vandalism was apparent again in Courtenay as three large plate glass windows were discovered smashed in the early hours of Monday morning.

The incident marred an otherwise quiet holiday weekend.

Plate glass windows at Parker's Hardware, Finlayson's Furniture, adjacent to each other and Niagara Finance, were all smashed. Some damage was caused at Parker's when large glass splinters marked a color TV and caused other damage.

RAIN BLAMED

Remembrance Day services were not as well attended as in some past years. Heavy rain and high winds drenched those who ventured out for the ceremonies in Courtenay, Comox and Cumberland.

In the latter two communities members of the Voice of Women carried placards, calling for peace.

Permits Fall

NORTH COWICHAN — Building permits issued from the municipal hall last month decreased to $159,000 from $218,764 during the same period in 1967. Ten-month total this year is $2,350,728. Last year it was $2,583,405.

Copter May Be Called In To Find Missing Hunter

CAMPBELL RIVER — A helicopter will be called in today if weather permits to search for an overdue Victoria hunter in dense bush country about 50 miles north of here.

Robert Knowles, 25, 250 Oswego, a carpenter who is married with no children, was reported missing Monday when he failed to rendezvous with a companion.

Campbell River RCMP Tuesday used a tracking dog in a bid to pick up tracks west of White River in the Sayward Valley.

Another hunter, Ron McLennon, 28, 522 Shepherd, Nanaimo, was reported missing late Tuesday night in the Mount Benson area in a 1947 Chevrolet.

Ferries Under Fire

If federal government's share of B.C. Ferries plates were taken off, fleet would sink, said Dick Durante, Liberal MP for Comox-Alberni, Sunday night in Port Alberni. He was using hypothetical example to illustrate federal government's $35,000,000 contribution towards establishing fleet. Only about 80 people attended meeting to discuss problems of service between Mainland and Island, despite 4,000 signing petition. Dr. Howard McDiarmid, M.L.A., said he would bring up point of lower fares for pensioners to government officials.—(Agnes Flett)

Cougar's Scream Shatters Quiet

He Couldn't Afford to Miss

By KLAUS MUEENTER

DUNCAN — A shot from the hip saved the life of Ross Davies, 26, of Auchinachie Road, and killed a male cougar that attacked him. The dramatic showdown with the powerful cat took place Sunday afternoon in mountainous bush country off Port Renfrew Road about six miles from Shawnigan Lake.

Mr. Davies had started out early that day to go deer hunting with two companions, Ian Sutherland and Ed Bienenvenne.

The three men made their way separately through the bush.

There was no deer and the earlier snowfall had changed to drizzle of rain.

Mr. Davies walked down a mountain side and reached a point where a rock bluff towered above him.

It was very quiet until a blood curdling scream tore at the stillness.

Mr. Davies flung himself towards the rock wall and a large cat shot over him from the top of the 10-foot bluff.

In the warmth of his comfortable home on Auchinachie Road, he recalled the close brush with deadly fangs and powerful teeth.

"I knew it was a cougar."

"When he jumped he missed me by about two feet."

"Had I not thrown myself towards the rock bluff he would have hit me square on."

"He landed about eight or 10 feet in front of me and as he turned his head and traced himself for another lunge I fired from the hip."

"It was a reflex action because I didn't have the time to do anything else."

"As I found out later I had shot right through the heart. He sprang into the air, shot over a bank and I lost sight of him. I didn't follow him right there and then."

"I was still scared and actually I found him later by chance, about 25 feet from where I shot him."

"If he had had enough time to turn around completely after he landed he could have easily reached me with one jump. Then my chances of hitting him would have been much less."

Mr. Davies said the male cougar weighed about 130 pounds and measured six feet nine inches from the head to the tip of his tail. Mr. Davies guessed his age at about three to four years.

The lucky father of Bradley, 17 months, and Tracie, 3 1/2 years, offered some explanation as to the weird behavior of the large cat.

"Perhaps he was hunting for food for his young family and just couldn't resist the perfect target I presented."

"Or perhaps I had come too close to his family's hiding place."

Mr. Davies said the blood curdling scream of the cougar is used to stun its prey.

He said, "It sounds terrifying and in many instances it probably is successful."

Mr. Davies works as a tail

Barge Sinking

Court Ousts Motion

OTTAWA (CP) — The Supreme Court of Canada Tuesday rejected a motion that it rehear an appeal involving the Tahsis Co. Ltd. of Vancouver and the Vancouver Tug Boat Co. Ltd.

In a decision handed down Oct. 31, the high court found that the capsizing of a barge owned by the tug company in 1962 was due to "insufficient and imprudent loading instructions" given by the representatives of the tug boat company.

Lawyers for the tug boat company asked the Supreme Court to reopen the appeal so it could place more arguments before the justices.

The court, as is usual on motions, gave no reason for its negative decision.

Sisters Injured

LAKE COWICHAN — Three sisters were struck an injured Monday by a car driven by 18-year-old Betty Ann Webber of Lake Cowichan.

Police said the Behm sisters of Lake Cowichan: Linda 16, Carla 15 and Debbie 14, were hit when they were walking down a poorly-lit street (not on the sidewalk) and three abreast on the rainy evening.

Linda is still in Cowichan and District Hospital in Duncan in satisfactory condition and Carla and Debbie suffered minor injuries.

Weapons Trial Starts Dec. 4

NANAIMO — Irvin Nernberg, 37, of 825 Bruce Avenue, pleaded not guilty Tuesday in magistrate's court to possession of an offensive weapon. His trial before a magistrate will begin Dec. 4. Mr. Nernberg was arrested Sunday after ambulance owner-driver Gordie Wagner was called to a house and advised to bring help.

Man Killed

PARKSVILLE — Mervin Eugene Olson, 34, of Parksville, was killed Sunday night in a three-car collision on the Alberni Highway nine miles west of here. Three others were injured.

Comox Valley Shows Way As Another Home Opens

COURTENAY — A new facility to help youth officially opened in Courtenay on Tuesday when Dan Campbell, minister of welfare, cut the ribbon to open the Comox Valley group living home.

The home, which will be under the care of house parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Giddens, is located across the street from Kiwanis Village, the low cost rental units for elderly citizens.

The new home was provided through provincial government grants, Courtenay Rotary Club assistance and a land grant from the city of Courtenay.

In his remarks, Mr. Campbell pointed out that the new home is but yet another step in decentralizing care for youth and is a means of providing a home-like atmosphere while providing care and control of the residents.

The Comox Valley has moved ahead in several fields of care beginning with the opening of Glacier View home for the elderly.

Kiwanis followed with the construction of Kiwanis Village.

In the field of care and training for the retarded, Beaufort Association has provided a day school, now operated by the school board, a pre-school group and an adult workshop in addition to the latest facility, a residence.

The residence at Sandwick, formerly an officer's mess, is in charge of foster parents Mr. and Mrs. L. Burke. Six retarded children are in residence.

An additional facility for adult retarded is expected to open soon when Bevan Lodge begins operating with 70 adult residents.

The association is presently hiring staff and preparing the building for the first group of 20 residents.

Another low-rental housing scheme is being studied by the Royal Canadian Legion branch at Comox. A committee has been set up to make preliminary investigations and the project has been endorsed in principle by branch members.

Banquet Side Dish Was Bland, Mysterious

By MARY TAYLOR

NANAIMO — Salmon was king at the banquet held by the Southern Vancouver Island Tribal Federation in John Barsby school recently. But if salmon was king of the kitchen, Mrs. Dora White was the queen.

It isn't every day you find someone who takes on the task of feeding four meals to at least 250 people at each meal, and carrying it off so well that she and her helpers get a standing ovation from the delighted guests.

But that's what happened after hungry delegates and guests had devoured plates of smoked salmon, deep fried salmon, dried salmon, and a wide variety of other delicacies, prepared as a group effort for the two-day convention.

At lunchtime, superb clam chowder was served, with home-made buns and bread, gallons of steaming coffee and tea, and fresh fruit for dessert. It was attractively served and delicious, but was just a mere hint of what was to come at banquet time.

In addition to the many varieties of salmon, platters of sliced beef, fried chicken and a huge bowl of crisp salad were set out on a long table. Rice and boiled potatoes were both available, and guests could take their choice of extras, like thick brown gravy or oolichan oil. Preserved Indian onions were a side dish, I tried.

I wasn't so embarrassed about not knowing what I was eating, since none of the Indian people at our table did either. In fact, half my onion was passed around and nibbled at as we all tried to decide what it was. Dark like a beetroot, bland and mealy, somewhat like a sweet potato, someone finally found out it was called a wild onion, but it didn't have an onion flavor.

The loaded smorgasbord was a real team effort. The salmon was donated, and a dozen of more smokehouses were kept busy, turning the silver fillets into golden brown succulent servings that can never be duplicated commercially. The new potatoes came in two 100-pound sacks — grown and donated by two of the oldest of the Indian gentlemen attending the dinner.

The women of the Nanaimo reserve baked bread and buns, as did some of the delegates and guests from other areas. The Oolichan oil, a real native delicacy, was also served.

And the young people played their part too. The three daughters of Chief Bud Redlams worked to make aprons for the servers, each decorated with an Indian motif in liquid embroidery. The huge white cloth on the head table was also brightened with an attractive design.

More than two dozen women and girls must have been at work, in the kitchen, behind the scenes and busy serving the guests, and the beautifully organized effort worked like a charm.

Of course Mrs. White is an old hand at dinners. She is usually called on when special feasts for funerals or weddings are required. Her planning could teach many a professional chef a thing or two.

Echo 67 Centre

Oils, Water Colors on Display

PORT ALBERNI — A display of paintings by Mrs. Mayr Hughes of Port Alberni will be sponsored by the Alberni Valley Community Arts Council, in the Lawrie Wallace lounge, the foyer of Echo 67 Centre from today.

Both oil and water colors will be included in the display of about two dozen pictures, which will be on show for two weeks.

BOARD MEMBER

Mrs. Hughes, in addition to being a busy artist, is well known to the community as a member of the board of the Coast General Hospital, and as an active worker of the women's auxiliary to the hospital. Since coming to Port Alberni 12 years ago, Mrs. Hughes continued her painting under the guidance of Robert Aller. She enjoys painting flowers, just as she enjoys gardening, and always finds a visit to the waterfront crowded with pictures waiting for an artist's brush.

WATERFRONT

Some of her vivid flower paintings, which she describes as "my impressions of the flowers" will be included in the display as well some of her waterfront scenes.

The arts council plans to sponsor many such shows at Echo Centre during the months ahead, including some displays on loan from the Victoria Art Gallery.

A display by the pottery club of the Alberni Valley is scheduled to start shortly after Mrs. Hughes' exhibition.

The present trustees are Fred Ozer and Bill Sutherland for the village of Lake Cowichan; Mrs. Les Budden for Youbou and Alec Walker for Honeymoon Bay.

These positions are for a two-year period and there is a vacant position for Honeymoon Bay for a one-year period.

All present trustees will be running for re-election.

Annual meetings and elections were scheduled to be held at Youbou Tuesday; at Honeymoon Bay at 8 p.m. Nov. 19. Voting for the trustees representing Lake Cowichan will be held by ballot along with the municipal elections in December.

Distance Dialing Saturday

CAMPBELL RIVER — A task force of 10 telephone operators is visiting more than 1,000 heavy long distance users in the Campbell River district on an educational program preparing subscribers for the introduction of direct dialing in Campbell River on Saturday.

The majority of the visits are being made to business firms, and a small number to residence customers in the district — which includes all the north end of the island, Alert Bay, Soanula and Ocean Falls.

B.C. Telephone technicians started the installation of direct dialing switching equipment and additional long distance facilities a year ago. This has been completed, and testing is underway and will continue until the conversion.

Tweed Curtainers Beg Pardon, But

Who Shook Oak Bay?

By DON COLLINS

There couldn't have been more excitement if someone had levelled Oak Bay's Tweed Curtain. Residents of the municipality dashed into the streets and to their phones late Saturday to report an explosion.

"It damned near blew me out of bed," a woman caller said.

"Must have been a six-inch shell hitting something," said a man.

"I beg your pardon," said a frightened Deaf Street woman, "but could you tell me if we've just had an earthquake?"

These people were among the many who called the Colonist after experiencing what most felt was a violent explosion.

If they sought the answer from police or firemen, they were out of luck. A police search of the municipality — the blast had been reported in Uplands, at the Oak Bay Marina and various other sites — failed to turn up anything.

Some residents said their houses actually shook. When they ran into the street they found their neighbors had done the same.

While no one had the answer, some police officers suspected the whole fuss might have been the result of a military jet aircraft breaking the sound barrier. There were no reports of it.

Trustees Brace for Assault

By BILL STAVDAL

Vacancies on two of the capital region's three school boards will enliven trustee elections Dec. 7.

Ardie Wickheim, a Milne's Landing representative on the Saanich school board, will submit his resignation to the board at its Tuesday meeting.

Ted Wood, a Victoria trustee on the Greater Victoria school board, has already announced he will not run again. No and 14-year trustee Mrs. Isabelle Reader said they would run again.

Saanich school board has four terms expiring.

George Howard, who represents Sidney, said he would probably run again but is not committed. Mrs. Rubymay Parrott of North Saanich said she will try for a second term.

Trustee George Bone, who sits for Central Saanich, could not be reached.

Mrs. Lindsay represents rural Saanich.

Five terms expire on the Greater Victoria school board this December.

Saanich representatives Dr. Donald Shorting and George Curran will both seek re-election. Mr. Curran has been a trustee eight years and Dr. Shorting four years.

Oak Bay representative Dr. Carron Jameson, now finishing his sixth year on the board, said Saturday he would run again.

In Esquimalt, board vice-chairman Les Karagiannis also said he will run. Mr. Karagiannis was first elected in February, 1964.

STILL WAITING

No contenders for Mr. Wood's seat are on the horizon. Two 1967 candidates, Lloyd Brereton and Mrs. Daphne Temple, both said Saturday that they will not run next month.

Mr. Wickheim said his new business of producing timber shows would take him away from home much of the time next year. His term has a year to run.

Another trustee representing Milne's Landing is Robert Anderson, who was elected in September to fill an unexpired term. Mr. Anderson confirmed he would try for a full two-year term next month.

Two terms expire in the Belmont sector of the Sooke school district. Both board chairman Dr. James Portlance committed. Mrs. Rubymay Parrott of North Saanich said she will try for a second term.

Trudeau on NATO

Go-Slow Ordered

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau said Tuesday Canada's delegation to the current conference of NATO ministers at Brussels has been instructed to go slow on making new commitments in the 15-member alliance.

Far Cry From Last Time

OTTAWA (UPI) — The House of Commons late Tuesday adopted the new federal budget and its two-per-cent social development tax by voice vote and without a recorded tally.

The result was a far cry from the budget debate of last spring which saw the Liberal minority government almost fall when it lost a vote on a key tax section.

Europe Told:

Risks Even Higher

BRUSSELS (AP) — American Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, Supreme Allied Commander Europe, took sharp issue Tuesday with those he said try to wish away the readiness and capability of Russia to use force after the invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Risks to Western Europe now are markedly higher, he said in an address to the Atlantic Assembly, made up of members of the U.S. Congress and parliaments of the 14 other NATO members. (See also Page 3.)

WITHOUT REGARD

"While to me the capabilities of the Warsaw pact powers are quite clear, what is equally clear is the willingness of the Soviet Union to use those capabilities when the considerations that their national interest is at stake," he said.

"She is willing to use that power without even regard to the reactions of the Communist world."

The Russians now have a larger and more usable combat force, further forward, better prepared and supported than they have had since 1945, he said, urging improvements in training, equipment and mobilization of Western forces.

New Hard Line

Any More Talking Invalid Without South

SAIGON (AP) — A South Vietnamese government source said today further peace talks between the U.S. and North Vietnam would be considered invalid by the Saigon government if it did not participate.

The source said any peace terms involving the war in South Vietnam, as contrasted with the bombing of North Vietnam, could come only in direct talks between Hanoi and Saigon.

He said President Thieu presumably would continue to boycott the Paris peace talks until some formula which Saigon could accept is worked out.

PARIS (Reuters) — The opening of enlarged peace talks, already a week late, appears des-tinued for a lengthy delay as three sets of diplomats wait here for the South Vietnamese government's next move.

American sources emphasized Tuesday that the most meaningful contacts on the issue are in Saigon, where United States Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker has been meeting President Nguyen Van Thieu about the South Vietnamese government's refusal to attend the Paris talks.

The North Vietnamese delegation here continued to reject Saigon's demands for assurances that the South Vietnam National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas, would play only an amon-

Robert Kennedy Death Link Probed

Mystery Witness Tells Plot Tale

From UPI, AP

NEW YORK — A mystery witness told a Brooklyn grand jury Tuesday that a Yemeni immigrant and his two sons tried to get him to join in a plot to kill President-elect Richard Nixon and offered him money to participate.

He testified for an hour and 20 minutes. The witness, who has never been identified, tipped police to the alleged conspiracy Friday, resulting in the arrests Saturday of Ahmed Namer, 43, and his sons Hussein, 20, and Abdo, 18. They have been held in the jury was sitting so the star witness could not be identified. Little is known about him except he knew the Namers well and made his first contact with police by phone from a Brooklyn bar near their home.

$100,000 bail each on charges of conspiracy to commit murder, criminal solicitation and possession of weapons. Acting Brooklyn District Attorney Elliott Golden saw to it that newsmen and photographers were kept at a distance from the Brooklyn criminal court room where

The suspects appeared briefly in court Tuesday morning before Judge John Furey, who postponed the hearing until Friday at the request of attorneys for both sides because of the grand jury investigation. The jury is expected to take no longer than a day or two to decide whether to hand up indictments.

The FBI and Secret Service agents continued their investigation into a possible link between the alleged plot against Nixon and the assassination of Sen. Robert Kennedy in Los Angeles last June. Kennedy's accused assassin, Sirhan Sirhan, also is an Arab.

An official said a "very large quantity" of correspondence from overseas was found in the Namers' poor, three-room apartment. Many were in Arabic and were being translated in the hope of gaining clues to the family's activities. Friends of the elder Namer said he never showed an interest in politics.

Golden said one of the mysteries was where the Namers, who worked as shipping clerks in a clothing factory, got the amount of money they reportedly offered their mystery informant. He hinted the plot could have been hatched outside the country.

Meanwhile, a report from Yemen quoted a cousin of Namer as saying the accused shipping clerk was once a member of the secret police in Aden.

But the cousin, Mrs. Hizam

Najly Namer, 43, said Namer "could never do a thing against anybody. He and his sons are responsible for seven women: myself, my three daughters and his three sisters."

Another cousin, Aly Najly Ahmed Namer, 68, said "a gun is identity for the Yemeni."

Other sources in Yemen said Namer and the unidentified man who informed police of the alleged plot were from opposing tribes that recently fought each other in Rada province.

Nixon First

First major appointment by U.S. President-elect Nixon Monday gave Bryce Harlow, 52, "management of legislative and congressional affairs." Harlow was deputy aide to President Eisenhower and key Nixon campaign aide. Nixon said he will have group of aides but no No. 1 man like Ike's Sherman Adams.—(AP)

East Coast

RAGING STORM KILLS 21

NEW YORK (UPI) — The biggest and roughest storm of the season swatted the east coast and the U.S. interior as far west as Tennessee with near-hurricane destructiveness Tuesday, bringing raging winds, snow and ice that sent the death toll mounting in seven states.

Hundreds fled their homes along the Atlantic Coast ahead of flooding ocean waters driven by gale force winds.

At least 21 deaths resulted from the storm, which also snarled air and land traffic and closed bridges and schools.

In New Jersey, National Guard troops evacuated hundreds of Atlantic seaboard residents where the ocean swept inland over Monmouth County. There were no reports of casualties during the evacuation. The guard used special high axle trucks to haul those rescued out over flooded highways.

NEVER SO SCARED

"I've never been so scared in my life," said Mrs. Frank Stires, who was evacuated along with her husband. "I panicked. I've been down here during hurricanes but I've never been any more afraid than now."

And so it went in the gulf-spawned storm whose winds raged up to 80 miles per hour.

BRIDGE SWAYED

A Bronx-to-Queens bridge swayed so much in the high winds that motorists left their cars and fled in terror, creating a jam that forced the closing of the bridge.

A fisherman drowned and another was maiming and presumed dead off Morehead City, N.C. Traffic accidents on rain and ice-slick roads killed two persons in Pennsylvania, two in New York and one each in New Jersey, Rhode Island and Maine. Three died of heart attacks in Pennsylvania while clearing away snow and an elderly man froze to death in Greenville, S.C.

SEA WALL BREAKS

The New Jersey flooding in Monmouth County followed breakthroughs in several ocean retaining walls along the coast at Island Beach and Mantoloking and the retaining wall at Fort Monmouth broke up. Many roads were closed and railroad service curtailed to the Jersey coast.

For New England, already blanketed in winter white, it was the third major storm in five days. Winds of 50 and 60 miles an hour lashed the Connecticut and Massachusetts coasts and hurricane barriers were closed in some ports. Scores of small craft were grounded or sunk and many ferry services were suspended.

LAKE WARNING

Even Lakes Erie, Ontario and Huron were affected and warnings were issued the western shores of Erie could expect a rise of water six feet above the normal level by this morning. Parts of Lower Manhattan were under two feet of water as a result of six-foot tides and flooded sewers.
